T. BUTLER,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Special Regulations relating to the examination of Masters and Mates to apply only where the Candidate has served an Apprenticeship in an approved sea-going Training Ship with a view to promotion in the service of the Company to which the Training Ship is attached.

Recognition of service on the training ship as qualifying for examination for a certificate as Second Mate.

1. The training ship must be a sea going cargo-carrying square-rigged sailing vessel, and the course of study and practical training which the cadets receive must be approved by the Board of Trade.

At the end of four years' service in the training ship the cadet will be qualified for examination for a certificate as Second mate, provided

(1) he can produce a testimonial to the effect that both his conduct and his ability have given satisfaction during the whole period, and

(2) that he has served at sea for not less than four-fifths of the time; that is to say has not spent more than one-fifth of the time in home ports.

Cf. paragraph 121 of Marine Department Notification No. 30Marine, dated 20th March 1906.

If the cadet has served previously for two years in either the "Conway" or the "Worcester" training ship, this time will be allowed to count as one year's qualifying service, and he will be required to serve for three years only in the Company's training ship before he can be allowed up for examination for a certificate as Second Mate (Ordinary).

Cf. paragraph 120 of Marine Department Notification No. 30Marine, dated 20th March 1906.

2. A candidate who has served for four (or three) years on the training ship may be allowed up for examination for a certificate as First Mate (Ordinary) when he has served whilst holding a certificate as Second Mate for two years as junior bridge-keeping officer of the watch upon vessels of the Company satisfying certain requirements (see paragraph 4).

Recognition of service (a) as senior officer and (b) as senior of the junior officers as qualifying for examination for a certificate as Master.

If the candidate has served for eighteen months as senior of the junior officers, i.e., the officer next below the junior of the officers in full charge of the watch whilst holding the certificate as First Mate he may be allowed up for examination for a certificate as Master (Ordinary) on the understanding that the certificate as Master would not be issued to him until he had completed twelve months' service as senior watch-keeping officer, the service in both cases to be performed on vessels satisfying the same requirements (see paragraph 4).

4. The special regulations (paragraphs 2 and 3) in regard to the acceptance of service as qualifying for the examinations for certificates as First Mate and Master shall apply only when the service is performed in the specified capacities upon ocean-going steamers of not less than 8,000 tons gross, making an average speed of 16 knots or upwards and carrying a crew of not less than 130 men including at least six deck officers beside the Master.

Limits of application of paragraphs 2 and 3.

5. These regulations are to be considered as part of the Regulations relating to the examination of Masters and Mates in the Mercantile Marine for Colonial and Home Trade Certificate of Competency issued by the Government of Bengal in 1906, and all the provisions of the latter will apply to the examination of candidates who have qualified under the special regulations, except where they specifically provide otherwise.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to consolidate and amend the Bengal Excise law, which is now contained in (1) the Bengal Excise and Licensing Act, 1878 (Ben. Act VII of 1878), as amended on different occasions by five Acts, viz., Act IX of 1885, Act XIII of 1890, Bengal Act IV of 1881, Bengal Act I of 1883, and Bengal Act II of 1903, and (2) the Excise Act, 1896 (XII of 1896), as amended by Act VII of 1906, which is in force in the district of Sambalpur. The time has arrived when it is clearly necessary to repeal and re-enact the present law, and to bring the Excise Administration of the district of Sambalpur into line with that of the rest of Bengal.

II. The Bill lays down the broad lines on which the Excise Administration is to be conducted, and the nature of the control which may be exercised, leaving points of detail to be determined by rules made under the Act, which, after publication, will have the force of law. The Excise Committee of 1905-1906 have remarked that the interests of the public can amply be safeguarded under the operation of permissive legislation, and they regard "a wide power of rule-making as absolutely essential to the proper working of Excise systems in their present stages of development." They strongly dissent from the view that, when a Government has decided on the adoption or abandonment of a particular system of Excise, it should necessarily embody its conclusions, in great detail, in the substantive law; and they point out that such action would not only tie the hands of the Government in a most unnecessary way, but would also almost inevitably end in defeating its own object. They remark that improvement can be effected only by constant trial and experiment; and, if a Government is tied to a particular system and specific methods, experiment is impossible without recourse to the legislature, and constant changes in the law are, above all things, to be avoided.

III. There are many matters in respect of which the existing Bengal Excise Law, as contained in Bengal Act VII of 1878 and amending Acts, is defective or obscure, and new provisions have been introduced into the Bill for dealing with them. Of the important amendments of the existing law proposed in the Bill, those of most general interest may be enumerated as follows:—

the provisions for introduction of the contract distillery system for supply of country spirit (clause 21);
the provisions for facilitating inter-provincial import and export (clauses 10 to 13);
the provisions for consulting local opinion as regards sites of liquor shops and other Excise shops (clauses 34 to 40);
the provisions permitting imposition of a tree-tax on tari, or toddy (clauses 29 to 33); the provisions for the compounding of offences (clause 68); and the provisions with regard to chemists and druggists who sell medicated spirits (clause 84).

IV. All material changes in the existing law, which are proposed in the Bill, are mentioned in the subjoined notes on clauses.

V. Attention is also drawn to the omission from the present Bill of certain provisions of the existing law which are obsolete, or which have never been put into force, or which will no longer be required under the provisions of the new law.

Paragraph 3 of section 12 of Bengal Act VII of 1878 provides for the issue of general licenses to travelling merchants. This provision has been little used and is no longer required.

Sections 20 to 25 of the Act provide for farm of duties. Clauses 21 and 83 of the present Bill, which provide for the grant of exclusive privileges and for the recovery of dues, sufficiently take the place of these sections.

Section 84 of the Act empowers the Local Government, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, to assign to the Corporation of Calcutta, or to any other municipality, powers as to granting excise licenses. This power has never been exercised, and it is thought to be sufficient to provide, as in clauses 34 to 41 of the present Bill, for ascertaining public opinion and for hearing objections to the issue of licenses.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

1. Clause 2. (3)—As the jurisdiction of the Superintendent of Excise-revenue, Calcutta, comprises Calcutta, the suburbs, and the towns of Howrah and Bally, the "Calcutta district" has been defined so as to include the whole of this area, but power has been reserved to the Government to reduce the area according to requirements.

2. Clause 2(4).—"Denatured" is defined.—It is proposed to repeal Act XVI of 1863, and to embody in the Bill provisions dealing with denatured spirit. It is advisable that Act XVI of 1863 should be replaced by more complete provisions, because that Act has no regard to the issue of denatured spirit for purposes other than arts, manufactures and chemistry; it gives no power to control possession or sale of such spirit; and it furnishes insufficient penalties for breach of the law, with an obsolete procedure for the levy of fines imposed. It is necessary that provisions dealing adequately with these points should find place in the law which treats of all excisable articles.

3. Clause 2(5).—The definition of "excisable article" obviates the necessity of defining "foreign excisable article," which is defined in the present Act.

4. Clause 2(7) defines the term "Excise Officer," there being no exhaustive definition of the term in the present law. The legal authority of an Excise Deputy Collector has been called in question in the Courts, and the definition is inserted in order to place the powers of such officials beyond dispute.

5. Clause 2(8).—This comprehensive definition of "excise-revenue" is new. Judicial fines are excluded from its scope.

6. Clauses 2(9) and 11.—The definition of "export" follows section 3 (16) of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886. It is inserted with reference to clause 11 of the Bill, regarding export of excisable articles. The necessity for the proviso to clause 11 was brought to notice in connection with the export of ganja to London without payment of duty.

7. Clause 2(10).—The definition of "import" follows section 3 (15) of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886. It is inserted with reference to clause 10 of the Bill, to enable the Government to realize duty on any excisable article imported from a province in British India.

8. Clauses 2(11) and 3.—The opportunity has been taken to introduce a more precise and comprehensive definition of "intoxicating drugs."

9. Clause 2 (12), (15).—There has been some difficulty in determining what the term pachwai includes. A definition of that term has therefore been inserted, and power has been given to the Local Government to declare any substance to be included in "liquor" for the purposes of the Act.

10. Clause 2(15).—It is deemed advisable to have statutory provision to declare what Magistrates should try Excise cases, and not to leave the matter to executive order.

11. Clause 2 (14).—The term "manufacture" is not defined in the present Act; consequently the word has been held to apply to the complete process only, and not to a part of the process. The definition in the Bill has been taken from section 3 (18) of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886, and has been so recast as to avoid the need of a separate definition of "rectification."

The necessity has also arisen for complete control over the flavouring, blending or colouring of liquor, in view of the extensive manipulation to which cheap white spirits from Europe and other countries is subjected in Calcutta.

12. Clause 2(15).—See para. 9, ante.

13. Clause 2(18).—The present Act contains no definition of "spirit", but has a definition of "spirituous liquor." That definition is obviously imperfect, and has led to inconvenient rulings by Courts of Law. In one case the accused was charged with illegal manufacture of liquor, his act being the addition of a fermented wash to white spirit. The Court held that "spirituous liquor" did not include liquor manufactured by a process of fermentation, and that the addition of a fermented wash to spirit did not constitute the manufacture of spirituous liquor. In the other case, the accused was charged with manufacturing Sanjibani Sura (a medicinal preparation containing a large quantity of spirituous liquor) without a license, but the Court held that "spirituous liquor" did not include a medical preparation, and the accused was acquitted. Such a state of the law would exempt all spirit if slightly medicated, and would open a vast field for defrauding the revenue. "Spirit" has therefore been defined in the Bill, and the definition of "spirituous liquor" has been omitted. The definition of "spirit" has been so framed as to include denatured spirit.

14. Clauses 2(20), 14 (c) and 51 (c).—These clauses have reference to a proposal, put forward by the Calcutta Wine, Spirit and Beer Association, that the bottling of wines and spirits for sale should be prohibited, except under license. The object of the restriction is to prevent German patent spirits, sophisticated to resemble whisky or brandy, from being sold as the genuine article. Clause 2 (20) defines bottling, clause 14 (c) prohibits bottling for sale without a license, and clause 51 (c) imposes a penalty for breach of clause 14 (c).

15. Clause 4 empowers the Local Government to declare what shall be deemed to be "country spirit" and "foreign liquor", respectively. The distinction must be to some extent arbitrary, and may require frequent alteration, as there is no real difference in spirits manufactured in different countries by similar methods and from a similar base. To ensure uniformity of practice, the previous sanction of the Government of India is required to the declaration of the Local Government.

16. Clause 5.—Section 15 of Bengal Act VII of 1878 fixes a maximum for the retail sale of each article, and difficulty has been felt when local circumstances have required a lower limit Accordingly, power is now reserved to the Board to fix the limits of retail and wholesale sale, respectively, either for the whole Province or for any specified local area.

17. Clause 6.—This clause is new. It extends to excisable articles the rule laid down in section 27 of the Indian Penal Code as to property in the possession of a wife, clerk or servant being deemed to be in the possession of the husband or master.

18. Clause 7.—The enactment of sub-clause (2) is desirable, because section 10 of the Bengal General Clauses Act, 1899, is not sufficient to carry on the references to Acts XI of 1849 and XXI of 1856, those Acts having been repealed by the Bengal Excise Act, 1878.

19. Clause 8(2).—Power is given to the Local Government to create an Excise Department suitable to its requirements. This clause is based on sections 4 and 5 of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886. Section 5 (1) of the Madras Abkari Act is covered by clause 8 (c), and power to make rules regulating the delegation of powers finds place in clause 79(b). Clause 8 (a), read with clause 2(6), makes the Excise Commissioner head of the Department, and his relation to the Collector is defined. Section 32 of the present Act (Bengal Act VII of 1878) imposes unnecessary limitations in regard to the appointment of a Superintendent of Excise-revenue. Clause 8(a) therefore allows the appointment of a special officer to exercise all or any of the powers, and to perform all or any of the duties, of the Collector in respect of the excise-revenue, either concurrently with, or in subordination to, or to the exclusion of, the Collector, subject to such control as the Local Government may direct. The words "in subordination to" have been inserted to allow of Sub-divisional Officers acting to a certain extent for the Collector in respect of Excise work, and also to provide for the due subordination of departmental officers to the Collector.

20. Clause 9.—This clause is modelled on section 64 of Act XII of 1896, an appeal being given from original orders of the Excise Commissioner. It is not considered advisable to allow a second appeal, and the power of revision by the Board can be exercised under the general powers of control which can be conferred under clause 8(a).

21. Clause 10.—This and the subsequent clauses in this Chapter have been framed so as to facilitate inter-provincial import and export without relaxing proper control, the difficulty attending such import and export being one of the greatest defects of the present law. Reference has already been made to clause 10 in connection with clause 2(10). Clause 10 declares that excisable articles shall not be imported unless with the permission of the Local Government, and on such conditions as it may impose, and after payment of duty on the execution of a bond for duty. Exceptions are, however, made, in the case of articles which are liable to duty under the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, or the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and in the case of liquor manufactured in British India and declared to be "foreign liquor." For import in these cases the permission of the Local Government of the Province of import is not required.

22. Clause 11.—See para. 6, ante.

23. Clause 12.—This clause authorizes the Local Government to prohibit transport.

24. Clause 13.—Denatured spirit has been excluded from the operation of the proviso, as it is desirable to control its movement.

25. Chapter IV.—Manufacture, Possession and Sale.—In dealing with manufacture, possession and sale, provisions have been entered which, while imposing the necessary restrictions on the public, will enable the Local Government to adopt any system of administration that appears most suitable to particular areas.

26. Clause 14(b).—This clause is mainly aimed at the unlicensed collection of bhang. Most of the bhang which is used is collected from the wild plant, and the Collector has at present no legal control over the process of collection. The clause accordingly prohibits the cultivation or collection of plants without a license, and clause 51 (b) imposes an adequate penalty for breach of this prohibition.

27. Clause 14(c).—See para. 14, ante.

28. Clause 14(e).—The object of this clause is to have all stills licensed. The provision is justified by the fact that manufacturers of rose-water, kewra, etc., have been detected in using their stills to make spirituous liquors.

29. Clause 15.—This clause is based on section 14 of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886, but the licensing of a private distillery, as well as the power of establishing a public distillery or warehouse, is entrusted to the Excise Commissioner, who will be subject to the orders of the Board as well as of the Local Government in this as in other respects. In the present Act a distinction is made [see sections 7 and 9 of Bengal Act VII of 1878] between distilleries worked after the European method and those worked after the Indian method, a distinction which has ceased to exist and proves an obstacle in the way of the accepted policy of the Government of India to admit to the country-spirit market plain spirit made in India in properly equipped distilleries.

30. Clauses 17, 18 and 55.—Clauses 17 and 55 extend the present law by prohibiting absolutely the possession of even the smallest quantity of any excisable article that has been illicitly obtained. The limit of private possession is a serious obstacle to the smuggler, and it has consequently been fixed, in clause 18, at a figure not higher than the limit of retail sale. Denatured spirit has been excluded from the exemption granted in clause 18(a) in the case of foreign liquor. In the case of Jagarnath Mandhata and others v. the Queen Empress (1897), I. L. R., 24 Cal., 324, the High Court decided that under the present law an Excise Officer has no authority to enter and search a house in which a "foreign excisable article" may be suspected to have been concealed. In order to meet this defect, as well as to meet the case of cocaine and other intoxicating drugs which require special measures of restriction, sub-clause (3) refers to excisable articles generally and the definition of "foreign excisable article" has been omitted. Sub-clause (2a) of clause 18 and sub-clause (a 1) of clause 54 have been inserted with reference to a recent case in the Birbhum District in which a licensed vendor who sold ganja, in an area to which his license did not extend, was found by the High Court to be punishable only under section 59 of Bengal Act VII of 1878, the maximum penalty provided by which is a fine of Rs. 50, the Court overruling the decision of the local Court which awarded a fine of Rs. 200 under section 53 and a similar fine under section 61.

31. Clause 19.—Provision is made for the sale without a license of the produce of the hemp plant to Government officers, if deemed advisable. The first proviso to the clause is intended for licenses granted in respect of river steamers or dining-cars on railways.

32. Clause 20 reproduces section 80 of Bengal Act VII of 1878, with a slight alteration in wording. It seems unnecessary to make statutory provision for the immediate cancellation of a license on the requisition of the Commanding Officer of a cantonment.

33. Clause 21.—The terms of this clause are comprehensive enough to cover the grant of any farm, of a district monopoly, and of a contract to supply spirit under the contract supply system. The exclusive privilege for the wholesale vend of country liquor in a particular area is an essential feature of the contract supply system which is gradually being introduced.

34. Clause 22.—Although the farming system is not at present in force in Bengal, provisions for farming are retained in case it should hereafter be found convenient to farm out any particular branch of the excise-revenue.

35. Clause 23.—Section 27 of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886, has here been adopted, its terms being however extended to cover the case of the manufacture or sale of any excisable article, as it may be advisable to require sellers of intoxicating drugs to keep weights. In view of this extension of the provision, the Local Government alone is given power to prescribe measures, weights and instruments.

36. Clause 24.—This clause is a reproduction of section 7 of Bengal Act II of 1903, except that the clause is amplified so as to make it applicable to the employment of children as well as women, and that the prohibition in respect of women has been confined to foreign-liquor shops.

37. Clause 25, which relates to closing of shops for the preservation of the public peace, is taken from the Madras Abkari Act, 1886, and gives legal authority to what has been the practice in Bengal. A Magistrate of any class is specified, for the mufassal, in view of restricted definition of "Magistrate" in clause 2(13). In the case of Police officers, it is deemed prudent to give power to close a shop in the emergency stated only to a Police officer above the rank of constable.

38. Clauses 26, 27 and 28.—The levy of duties or fees in any of the ways in which it is desirable that they should be levied is authorized. The Explanation to clause 26 meets the case of a distillery which supplies liquor to districts in which different rates of duty are in force, or the case of a district in which different rates of duty are levied according to strengths. Clause 27(a) provides, in the case of inter-provincial import, that duty may be paid either in Bengal or in the territory from which the article is brought, or on issue from bond.

39. Clause 29.—A tree-tax will be imposed, under clause 33, only in places in which the Local Government may decide to impose it. The proviso to clause 29 covers the case of sweet tari and tari drawn for the manufacture of gur or jaggery. The consumption of tari requires more adequate check, by improved excise methods and enhanced taxation, than it has yet received in Bengal, especially in areas where it is proposed to adopt measures for the restriction of the consumption of country spirit by enhancement of taxation.

40. Clauses 34 to 41.—Provision has been made in the substantive law, instead of in rules, for consulting local opinion as regards sites of liquor and other Excise shops. The principles observed are (1) that due publicity and timely notice should be given of the number and location of the Excise shops for the next settlement, so that anyone interested may have a reasonable opportunity of objecting; and (2) that due consideration should be given to all bonâ fide objections preferred by residents in the locality or by a public body. A definite procedure has been laid down, to give effect to these principles, but at the same time it is sufficiently elastic to suit the varying circumstances of different parts of the country and to admit of changes such as experience may dictate in matters of detail. In drafting these clauses, the following orders of the Government of India have been borne in mind.

"If a statutory obligation is imposed on the officers of Government to consult local authorities, and if the precise procedure for receiving, recording and dealing with the representations of the latter is embodied in the law, coupled with extensive rights of appeal, it may be argued that any deviation therefrom will invalidate the whole proceedings. If such a contention should be successful, the practical effect of the measure would be to build up a crude and ill-designed, because unintended, form of local veto, and to detract from the final responsibility which, as all authorities are agreed, must rest with the officers of Government."

41. Clause 39, proviso.—Having regard to the position of the Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation it is considered that, in case of a difference of opinion between him and the Commissioner of Excise, the last word should be with the Board of Revenue. As regards the functions assigned to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, existing practice has been continued.

42. Clause 41.—No object would be gained by applying the rule to druggists' licenses or licenses for sale of spirits which have been rendered permanently unfit for human consumption; and it is impracticable to adopt the procedure in the case of temporary licenses or licenses which have been cancelled or surrendered before the expiry of their original term.

43. Clause 47.—This clause is important. Sub-clauses (d) and (e) have been amplified so as to render a license, permit or pass liable to be cancelled or suspended for any offence punishable under the Excise Act, or the Merchandise Marks Act, 1889, or any section introduced into the Indian Penal Code by section 3 of the latter Act, or for any offence referred to in clause 8 of section 167 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878. The reason for this amendment is as follows:—

A licensee, who held two licenses for the retail sale of country spirit, also held a subsidiary license for the sale of imported liquors. He was convicted of an offence in connection with the sale of imported liquor, and his license for such sale for the shop in which the offence was committed was cancelled. But on the question of cancelling the other two licenses, it was held that under section 29 of the present Excise Act (Ben. Act VII of 1878)

a license could be cancelled only for the violation of one of the conditions on which it was itself granted, and not for the violation of a condition of any other license, although the two licenses might be held by the same person. To remedy this defect sub-clause (2) has been added, in order to make a conviction under any of the laws mentioned in clause (a) or clause (e) a ground for cancelling all licenses of a similar nature held by the licensee. As regards the reference to clause 8 of section 167 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, in sub-clause (e), it may be explained that, by section 10 (l) of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, 1889, certain additions are made to the list of prohibited goods in section 18 of the Sea Customs Act, the effect of which is to prohibit the importation of goods bearing a false trade mark or a false trade description, and that under clause 8 of section 167 of the Sea Customs Act any person who imports or attempts to import any such goods is liable to fine and to confiscation of the goods at the hands of the Collector of Customs. Action is constantly taken in the Custom House under the last named section, but several cases have occurred which differ from that of the licensee above referred to, in that the fraud was discovered in the Custom House before the goods were offered for sale to the public (and there was, therefore, no conviction under the Merchandise Marks Act). Accordingly, clause 47 is so framed as to authorize the cancellation of a license of this class. When a license is cancelled under clause (a), (b) or (c), it is desirable that the Collector should have power to cancel other excise licenses held by the licensee.

44. Clause 49.—The expression "sum payable under the license," occurring in section 30 of the present Excise Act (Ben. Act VII of 1878), is in practice construed as meaning the sum payable under the license for the period up to date of surrender, and not the sum payable under the license for the whole year. This has the effect of enabling defaulting licensed vendors to evade their due liabilities by merely surrendering their license. The amendment now proposed will require a licensee to make good the loss that may accrue owing to the surrender. The principle is a sound one, tempered, as it is, by the proviso to clause 50 which permits the Excise Commissioner to remit to the vendor such loss or any portion thereof. The Explanation to clause 49 is necessary, as doubts have been expressed whether an accepted bidder can be made liable for the license fees until the license has actually been issued.

45. Chapter IX—Offences, Penalties and Procedure.—Under the existing law all first offences are punishable with fine only; and imprisonment, either simple or rigorous, can only be awarded as an additional penalty where a previous conviction is proved. Where the offenders belong, as they mostly do, to the poorer classes, experience has shown that simple imprisonment fails to induce them to pay fines. Where, again, more well-to-do people take to conducting illicit distillation on a large scale, the business proves so lucrative that a fine produces no effect. Additions have accordingly been made in the Bill to give power in specified cases to sentence an offender to imprisonment of either description in lieu of, or in addition to, fine.

46. Clause 50.—This is new, and is taken from the Draft Excise Bill prepared for the whole of British India by the Indian Excise Committee. Specific reference is made to default by the holder of a license, in order to make it clear that the Government has the same power in respect of the grant covered by that license as it has in the case of a grant of an exclusive privilege under clause 21.

47. Clause 51.—This clause incorporates parts of sections 53 to 55 and other sections of the present Act (Ben. Act VII of 1878). The present law does not provide any punishment for the possession of an unlicensed still, although section 10A prohibits such possession and section 39 empowers an Excise Officer to arrest the possessor. Sub-clause (e) of clause 51 of the Bill supplies this omission. Under section 59, a licensed vendor is liable to a fine of Rs. 50 for selling an excisable article in contravention of his license. A fine of this amount (being often less than a month's fee) is insufficient, and does not deter vendors from running the risk of detection. It is necessary that more severe punishment should be inflicted for such an offence. As to sub-clause (c), see para. 14, ante.

48. Clauses 53 and 53A are taken from the Bombay and Madras Abkari Acts, and are aimed mainly at the trade in spurious liquors.

Clause 54.—See para. 30, ante.

49. Clause 55.—This clause will render it possible to punish persons who have in their possession excisable articles which have been unlawfully imported, transported or manufactured, or which have not paid duty, even if the quantity of such articles does not exceed the limit of private possession.

50. Clause 56.—The provision against the drinking of liquors in chemists' shops should not be restricted to the night as in section 66 of the present Act. The practice at which the section is aimed is an insidious one and offers special temptations. The words "between sunset and sunrise" have therefore been omitted. The section has further been amended so as to extend its application to places other than the town and suburbs of Calcutta and Howrah.

51. Clause 57.—It is proposed to raise the penalty for failure on the part of a licenseholder to produce his license, or for breach of a rule under the Act, or a condition of a license, for which no other penalty is otherwise provided, from Rs. 50 as under the present Act (section 59) to Rs. 500. A permit is referred to as well as a license or pass, and, with advertence to the Madras High Court ruling in Criminal Revision Cases Nos. 630 and 639 of 1886, provision is specifically made for the misconduct of the servants of licensees.

52. Clause 58.—Under the present law (section 59) power is given to punish the licensee, but not his servant, for certain breaches of the license committed by a servant. Under clause 57 of the Bill, it will be possible to punish the servant, but not his master, the licensee, for a breach of the license committed by the servant. Under the Madras Abkari Act, 1886, section 64, the holder of an Excise license, as well as the actual offender, is punishable for any offence committed by any person in the employment of the licensee and acting in his behalf, as if he had himself committed the same, unless he can show that all reasonable precautions were exercised by him to prevent the commission of the offence. It is considered desirable to assimilate the practice in Bengal to that in Madras, and clause 58 has accordingly been inserted in the Bill.

53. Clause 59.—Sub-clauses (d) and (e) are necessary in the interests of discipline of a large force.

54. Clause 62, which is based on section 59 of the Excise Act, XII of 1896, declares that an attempt shall be equally punishable with the principal offence.

55. Clause 63 enables enhanced punishment to be given in case of previous conviction of any of the more serious offences under the Act. It is not considered necessary to provide for enhanced punishment in cases of offences under clause 53, 54, 57 or 60. After a first conviction licenses are not likely to be renewed, nor are Excise Officers likely to be retained in the service.

56. Clause 64 is new. It provides for bail being accepted in all cases. This principle is found to have worked well in Madras.

57. Clause 65 has been drafted so as to permit a Magistrate to take cognizance of the more serious offences under the Act on his own knowledge or suspicion or on the complaint or report of an Excise Officer, while, to prevent harassment of licensed vendors and of the public, he can take no action in respect of the less serious offences, breaches of conditions of licenses and the like, except at the instance of the Collector or an Excise Officer authorized by him.

58. Clause 66 contains an exhaustive list of the articles which are to be liable to confiscation.

59. Clause 68 provides for the compounding of offences under the Excise Act. Under the present law offenders have invariably to be prosecuted before a Magistrate, or their licenses have to be cancelled. There are many cases in which it would be to the advantage of both the offender and the revenue if the Collector or any Excise Officer specially empowered by the Local Government in that behalf had power to compromise.

60. Clause 70.—The power of arrest without warrant is at present confined to officers above the rank of an excise peon. It is deemed desirable to allow the Local Government to declare by what officer and under what restrictions this power shall be exercised. The Salt, Customs, Opium and Land-revenue Departments are included in the departments mentioned in the clause.

Under section 40 of the present Excise Act (Ben. Act VII of 1878), an Excise Officer, on receiving information of a breach of the Excise law, can only search in the presence of an officer of Police not lower in grade than a corporal or head constable. As Police officers are not everywhere immediately available, many cases escape detection, and it is proposed to amend the law so as to dispense with attendance of the Police.

61. Clause 72.—Power to issue a warrant is given to a Collector as well as to a Magistrate. The word "Collector" under the Bengal General Clauses Act, 1899, includes the Collector of Calcutta, who has no Magisterial powers.

62. Clause 75.—A general reference to the necessary provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure is a more convenient arrangement than their reproduction in the Bill. It is proposed to empower Excise Officers of superior rank to release persons brought before them, on failure of adequate proof, or with a warning against repetition of the offence. This provision is considered desirable in order to prevent prosecution for petty offences, especially in connection with the introduction of the tree-tax system.

63. Clause 76.—The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure as to the investigation of offences have been made applicable to investigations under this Act; and it is made clear that offences punishable under clause 51 or clause 55 may be investigated without the order of a Magistrate. Without special direction, they could not be so investigated, as they are offences for which only a specified class of Police officers can arrest without warrant, and are therefore not cognizable offences.

64. Clause 77 is based on sections 37 and 38 of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886. It is deemed advisable to confine the obligation to give information of Excise offences to the officers of the departments most intimately connected with Police or revenue matters.

65. Clause 78 is based on section 39 of the Madras Abkari Act, 1886, and goes further than section 53 of Act XII of 1896, which limits responsibility to authorization of or connivance at illegal dealings. The clause has been expanded to meet cases where difficulty has arisen in case of illicit distillation within the village site, and also to cover the case of unlawful cultivation or collection of hemp.

66. Clauses 79 and 80.—All the rule-making powers are brought together, instead of being scattered over several clauses. The Local Government is empowered to make rules on the more important matters, and, in order to save correspondence and frequent references, it is proposed to empower the Board of Revenue to make rules on minor matters.

67. Clause 79.—Sub-clauses (f), (g), (h) and (hh) give power to the Local Government to make rules as to denatured spirit, and will replace sections 2 and 4, Act XVI of 1863; while sub-clause (e) enables a limit to be fixed for possession of denatured spirit by a licensed vendor.

68. Clause 80 (i).—Allegations have frequently been made regarding the use of deleterious substances in the process of manufacture. It may prove desirable to have power to prohibit the use of such substances or the use of particular flavouring or colouring matters in blending spirits for the market.

69. Clause 80 (6).—This clause has been introduced to legalize the existing practice under which exciseable articles declared unfit for use are destroyed by order of the Collector.

70. Clause 82.—Provision is made for notification in the Gazette of all rules made under the Act.

71. Clause 84.—In view of the increasing use as intoxicants of medicated articles sold by druggists, it is deemed advisable to give power in special cases to prohibit import, export, transport, manufacture, possession and supply, as well as sale by druggists and others.

72. Clause 85, giving power to exempt articles from provisions of the Act, has been somewhat amplified. The words "or for any specified period or occasion" have been added with special reference to the fact that concessions regarding pachwai brewing are allowed for special festivals.

No. 11Marine.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 10 of Act I of 1859 (an Act for the amendment of the law relating to Merchant Seamen), the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to make the following addition to Appendix D of the Rules issued under the notification of this Government, No 39Marine, dated 20th March 1906, for the conduct of examinations for Masters and Mates of Foreign-going ships and Home-trade ships, and as to the qualifications to be required :—

Signalling

The standard of efficiency in Signalling required from candidates for the Extra Masters' Certificate and for the Voluntary examination in Signalling after 1st July 1908, will be as follows :—

Candidates must be capable of sending and reading signal made by--(1) Semaphore at a rate of 10 words per minute. (2) Morse, flashing and flag-waving at a rate of 6 words per minute (the average length of a word to be calculated at 5 letters).

The Semaphore test will be a prose message of about 30 words

The Morse flashing and flag-waving test will be a test message (see the British Signal Manual) followed by a prose message of about 30 words.

The candidate must attain a degree of accuracy of at least 90 per cent. in reading both Semaphore and Morse signals.

Each candidate will be orally examined as to his knowledge of the International Signal Book and the British Signal Manual. With regard to the latter, special attention will be paid to the prescribed procedure of signalling both by day and night between H. M. ships and the Mercantile Marine.

The examination should in all cases and for all grades commence with the usual examination in the International Code, a good working knowledge of which should always be expected.

This should be followed by an examination in the British Signal Manual, the candidate being expected to know the meaning of any or all of the single flag signals given therein, and the signification of the Pilot Jack when incorporated in a hoist. He should also be required to make or read from the Pilot Jack table a hoist given by the Examiner. Candidates need not be expected to commit the Pilot Jack table to memory, but there should be no hesitation whatever in making or reading a signal. He should also know how to recognise any of the three flag hoists given at the end of the Signal Manual and not confuse them with those of the International Code.

For the ordinary examination candidates should be required to read Morse letters made slowly and with a reasonable interval—say 3 to 5 seconds—between each letter by both flashing lamp and flag-waving, and also be able to read letters made either by hand flags or mechanical Semaphore, with the same interval allowed between the letters. He should also be able to make any given letters by any of these methods

For the Extra Master and Voluntary examination in Signalling, candidates must be able to make and take in Morse and Semaphore signals at the rate prescribed.

Morse flashing and flag-waving.—The candidate should be first required to make a test message (in accordance with test-card) and then a prose message of about 25 words, a maximum of 50 marks being allotted to each message; the candidate to gain at least 90 per cent. of marks for the whole (for making of test message see table at back of test-cards).

The prose (spelling) message is left to the discretion of the Examiner, and may be any passage from a book or newspaper in English When the passage contains figures and the candidate does not choose to spell them out, the Examiner should see that the proper signs are made before and after the figures.

Each incorrect word or group of figures is to be penalised by the loss of two marks.

The Examiner should then make a test message followed by a prose message, allotting marks as above. The candidate may, however, read over and correct his message. The candidate should gain at least 90 per cent. of marks

Semaphore signalling.—The same procedure will be observed in the Semaphore examination, the candidate being first required to a make a prose message of about 30 words and then to read one made by the Examiner. The candidate should gain at least 90 per cent. of marks in each. The message as read by the candidate should be taken down by another candidate, clerk, or other person according as the Examiner may deem expedient.

Candidates should be thoroughly tested in the various signs and the procedure of calling up, sending and answering a signal as laid down in the British Signal Manual, and this course should always be strictly adhered to.

Particular attention should be paid by Examiners to the accurate spacing of the Morse signs and to the intervals between letters and words both in flashing and flag-waving and also to the correct making of the Semaphore signs. Any attempted increase of speed at the expense of accuracy in making signals should be discouraged.

The block letter test and prose message as read by the candidate should be forwarded attached to the candidate's papers in the usual way with the percentage of marks allotted according to the table on the back of the test-cards, together with any remarks the Examiner may think fit to add with regard to the examination.

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The Hon'ble MR. F. A. LARMOUR.
The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL.
The Hon'ble MR. M. S. DAS, C.I.E.

NEW MEMBERS.

The Hon'ble SIR EDWARD BAKER, the Hon'ble MR. J. G. CUMMING and the Hon'ble MR. A. S. THOMSON took their seats in Council.

INTRODUCTORY SPEECHES.

The Hon'ble the MAHARAJADHIRAJA SIR BIJAY CHAND MAHTAB BAHADUR OF BURDWAN said :—"Your Honour, to-day you have formally taken your seat in this Council as our Ruler and President, and on behalf of my Indian colleagues and myself, I beg to accord you a very hearty welcome to this Chamber so very familiar to you. Your appointment as our Lieutenant-Governor has given universal satisfaction in this Province, and to-day, in Council, we, your Indian colleagues, wish to express to you our gratification at having you to preside over us here, and sincerely hope that your regimé will be one full of vigour and important reforms as well as one of peace and prosperity to Bengal to which you belong, which you love, and which, I venture to say, loves you and has welcomed you very cordially."

The Hon'ble MR. DAS said :—"Your Honour, you have received greetings of welcome from one Indian nobleman—one who is perhaps the oldest among the Non-official Members of this Council, oldest in the ordinary sense, and oldest perhaps in my association with the proceedings of this Council. I consider it my duty to offer Your Honour our sincerest felicitations and respectful greetings of welcome as President of this Council and as Ruler of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa. For some time past we have hoped to welcome you as the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and we are thankful that God, in His infinite wisdom, has entrusted the reins of Government to your hands, which I consider to be a most important event in the history of the country. When a vessel, Sir, is overtaken by a storm, the man at the helm steers it with a firm and steady hand; and while he steers the vessel steadily along the route, leading her to her port of destination, he is not unmindful of the lives entrusted to his care. Sir, I believe that personality is an important factor in any scheme of administration, and it is especially so in India. Laws are necessary, Legislative Councils are necessary, and laws are sometimes necessary even as surgical instruments. Sir, inventors and manufacturers of surgical instruments readily deserve the gratitude of the world, but the value of a surgical instrument to a particular patient depends on the skill of the surgeon.

"Sir, we are thankful to you for Your Honour's intention to visit Orissa three weeks hence. Orissa has no attractions of pleasant memories associated with Your Honour's past official career; and yet, notwithstanding that, that Your Honour should have decided to visit that part of the country under Your Honour's rule, within so short a time of having taken over the reins of Government, and amidst numerous engagements at this time, makes us hope that Your Honour's rule will be characterised by reformation, direct touch with the people, and entire sympathy for India.

"May God grant you health and strength, so that Your Honour may rejoice in extending to the people under Your Honour's rule the full benefits of the coming reform, and when, in the fullness of time, Your Honour lays down the reins of this Government, may history look upon you, Sir, as the illustrious vision who worked out in Bengal the glorious mission of England, the extension of the blessings of civilised life."

The Hon'ble MR. LARMOUR said :—"Your Honour, on behalf of the community that I represent in this Council, I desire to endorse the words of welcome offered you by the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja of Burdwan on your appointment as Lieutenant-Governor of this province."

The Hon'ble BABU GAJADHAR PRASAD said :—"I, on behalf of the people of Bihar, accord Your Honour a hearty welcome. They are thankful to Your Honour for the recent tour you made in Bihar, so soon after the assumption of office and the opportunity you thereby afforded them of welcoming you in their midst. Sir Andrew Fraser paid special attention to Bihar because of its backwardness, and your recent tour has filled the Biharis with the hope that Your Honour will continue the same policy."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said :—" Maharajadhiraja Mr. Larmour and Gentlemen of the Council—

I thank you for the welcome you have accorded to me as your incoming President and for the kind expressions which the Maharaja of Burdwan has been good enough to use regarding me.

" I am not a stranger to this Council, for I enjoyed the honour of a seat upon it, as Secretary to the Bengal Government, for nearly three years, from 1898 to 1901; and though that is now a long time ago, I am glad that there are at least two gentlemen present to-day, who were colleagues of mine, during a portion of that time—I mean the Hon'ble Mr. Slacke and the Hon'ble Mr. M. S. Das.

" During the time when I was a member of the Council, and indeed at all times that are within my knowledge, the relations between the non-official members and the Government have been uniformly excellent, and I am confident that my Government will receive from you the same assistance and co operation as in the past.

" Gentlemen, I do not propose to trouble you with any remarks on the business that is on the agenda paper to-day. But I desire to take this opportunity of making some observations on another matter, which in my judgment is of very real importance.

" On two recent occasions, when speaking about the great constitutional reforms which are shortly to be introduced, His Excellency the Viceroy declared emphatically that it will now rest with the people of India and their leaders to make the reforms a success. That pronouncement has been cordially accepted by the organs of public opinion that I have seen; and I myself will venture to express hearty agreement with it.

" But there is also another aspect of the matter, and it is to this that I desire now to invite attention. I hold that a solemn duty rests upon the officers of Government in all branches, and more particularly upon the officers of the Civil Service, so to comport themselves in the inception and working of the new measures as to make the task of the people and their leaders easy. It is incumbent upon them loyally to accept the principle that these measures involve the surrender of some portion of the authority and control which they now exercise, and some modification of the methods of administration. If that task is approached in a grudging or reluctant spirit, we shall be sowing the seeds of failure, and shall forfeit our claim to receive the friendly co-operation of the representatives of the people. What precise changes will be made in the form of district or municipal administration are not likely to be determined until the Royal Commission on Decentralization shall have presented its report. But as regards the Provincial Council itself, we know from the published papers the general outlines of what is in contemplation. These include a majority of non-officials, who, whether elected or nominated, are at liberty to speak and vote as they please; a large measure of control over the Provincial budget; the power of raising debates and moving resolutions on matters of public interest; and the right of putting supplementary questions.

" It is manifest that the free exercise of these powers, in the spirit in which they have been devised, will impose a greatly increased burden of work and responsibility on the officers who will represent the Government in the Council. They must be prepared to support, defend and carry through the administrative policy, and in a certain degree even the executive acts of the Government in the Council, in much the same way as is now prescribed in regard to measures of legislation; and they must further be prepared to discharge this task without the aid of a standing majority behind them. They will have to resort to the more difficult arts of persuasion and conciliation, in place of the easier methods of autocracy. This is no small demand to make on the resources of a service whose training and traditions have hitherto led its members rather to work for the people than through the people or their representatives. But I am nevertheless confident that the demand will not be made in vain. For more than a hundred years, in the time of the Company and under the rule of the Crown, the Indian Civil Service has never failed to respond to whatever call has been made upon it, or to adapt itself to the changing environment of the time. I feel no doubt that officers will be found who possess the natural gifts, the loyalty, the imagination and the force of character which will be requisite for the conduct of the administration under the more advanced form of government to which we are about to succeed."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

STIPENDS AND ACCOMMODATION FOR STUDENTS OF THE PATNA NORMAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Hon'ble BABU GAJADHAR PRASAD said:—

The students who pass the Lower Primary, the Upper Primary and the Middle Vernacular examinations, and then, with the object of qualifying themselves for a teachership in the Middle Vernacular schools, join the Patna Normal Training School, get only Rs. 4 a month as stipend. On account of the insufficiency of this stipend and the bad accommodation with which they are provided in the boarding-house, they cannot live well and in good health. Two of them died of plague in 1907-08 and two of them died of cholera in 1908-09. The students who join the Guru-training School without passing any examination get Rs. 5 to Rs. 9 a month as stipend. In view of these facts will the Government be pleased to consider the advisability of raising the stipend to Rs. 7 or Rs. 8 a month and of providing good accommodation as soon as practicable?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied:—

"The sufficiency of the stipends allotted to students who attend the vernacular training schools is one of the subjects which is being dealt with by a Committee recently appointed by Government to consider the whole question of vernacular training schools. The Committee has not yet completed its inquiries.

"As regards the accommodation of the hostel at Patna, the Government have no reason to believe that its condition is responsible for the cases of illness referred to by the Hon'ble Member; but the matter will receive attention."

THE PATNA TEACHERS' TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Hon'ble BABU GAJADHAR PRASAD asked:—

In view of the interests of the public generally and of the students of the Patna Teachers' Training College particularly, will it please the Government to consider the desirability of defining the prospects of the students that pass from the College and of guaranteeing a certain number of appointments to them?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied:—

"The present training class for teachers at Patna was opened on the 12th October, 1908. It is as yet only in an experimental stage. Neither in the case of this training class nor in that of the David Hare Training College, at Calcutta, has it so far been definitely laid down what specific advantage will be given to those who pass through the training course. The question of the terms on which intending teachers, who have taken the training course at Patna, will be appointed to Government service is at present under consideration, but its final determination depends on the settlement of the general scheme for the improvement of the position of teachers in secondary schools, which is now before the Government of India."

THE BENGAL COURT OF WARDS (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1908.

THE Hon'ble Mr. Duke moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Court of Wards Act, 1879, be taken into consideration.

He said:—"SIR,—I am glad to say that the very short Bill of which I am in charge has been unanimously approved by the Select Committee exactly as it was presented to them. There is in fact hardly anything to be added to the remarks which were made by the Hon'ble Mr. Greer in introducing the Bill.

"It gives to the Court of Wards a facility which has hitherto been wanting to obtain loans for the consolidation or liquidation of the debts of a Ward's estate.

"For the smaller estates particularly, however excellent the security might be, the class of capitalists who are willing to lend on reasonable terms to large estates refused to come forward. The necessary inquiries were too troublesome and the legal business too expensive to make a small investment at low interest worth their while. But under this Bill the Court of Wards, which is in possession of all the facts, will have no difficulty in arranging loans from estates which have a surplus seeking investment.

"The arrangement will be equally a boon to those estates which at present can find no remunerative employment for their surplus funds.

"All the authorities consulted have approved of the Bill except the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce. This body objected to the narrowing of the money-lenders' opportunities, a view which is certainly not much in sympathy with the interests of land-owners.

"A further suggestion made by them was that estates between which such transactions had taken place might be involved in litigation after their release from the Court of Wards. As observed by the Select Committee, however, section 13A of the Court of Wards Act, 1879, expressly provides against such a contingency by enabling the Court of Wards to retain charge until the liabilities have been discharged. When there is such general approval and when the only objections advanced have so little basis, I trust that this Council will have no difficulty in passing the Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Duke also moved that the Bill be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE INDIAN LUNATIC ASYLUMS (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1908.

THE Hon'ble MR. OLDHAM moved that the Bill to amend the Indian Lunatic Asylums Act, 1858, be taken into consideration.

He said:—"I move, Sir, that the Bill to amend the Indian Lunatic Asylums Act, 1858, be taken into consideration by the Council. When moving for leave to introduce the Bill at the last meeting of Council on the 28th of November, I explained to the Hon'ble Members the nature of this short formal measure, which involves the amendment only of one section of the Act, and the object of which is to enable the simple procedure of section 7 to be made available for dealing with Calcutta lunatics whom it may be necessary to send to an asylum situated elsewhere in the Province."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. OLDHAM also moved that the Bill be passed.

He said:—"I now move, Sir, that the Bill to amend the Indian Lunatic Asylums Act, 1858, be passed."

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL EXCISE BILL, 1909.

THE Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON moved for leave to introduce a Bill to consolidate and amend the Excise Law in Bengal.

He said:—"I ask for leave of the Council to introduce a Bill to consolidate and amend the law with regard to intoxicating liquors and intoxicating drugs.

"This Bill which I ask permission to introduce takes the place of the Bill originally introduced in this Council at the end of the year 1903 by the Hon'ble Mr. Buckland, my predecessor on the Board of Revenue. That Bill was referred to a Select Committee, who reported upon it in March, 1904. On the presentation of the Report an important debate took place in the Council. I think that the Hon'ble Babu Kali Pada Ghosh and I are the only present members of Council who were on the Council at that time. The Hon'ble Mr. Woodroffe, who was at the time Advocate-General, moved that the Bill should be re-committed to the Select Committee with instructions that it should be amended so as to secure express and direct legislative enactment, or procedure, for ascertaining the existence of local opinion in the matter of licensing liquor-shops and for ensuring that a reasonable amount of deference should be paid to such local opinion, when ascertained, both as to the number and location of shops. Mr. Woodroffe further moved that the Bill should be amended so as to provide in the actual text of the law that intoxicating liquors and drugs shall not be sold to children under 14 years of age, or to women. He also moved that reasonably adequate provision should be made in the Bill so as to prevent, as far as possible, the spread of drunkenness. This motion for re-commitment was accepted by your predecessor, Sir, and the Bill was sent back to the Select Committee for further consideration.

"The Select Committee further reported on the Bill in April, 1904; and the Hon'ble Sir Andrew Fraser accepted their recommendations that a prohibition of the sale of intoxicants to children should be inserted in the Bill, and that the matter of the sale of intoxicants to women should be left to be dealt with, if necessary, by rules to be made under the Act. Sir Andrew Fraser also agreed with the Committee that provisions for ascertaining public opinion in regard to licensing shops for the sale of intoxicants, which previously had been made by rules, should be specifically included in the Bill. Clauses were inserted in accordance with these recommendations.

"Sir Andrew Fraser then asked for the permission of the Government of India to proceed with the amended Bill. In reply the Government of India accepted the principles recommended, but pointed out certain defects in the clauses which had been inserted to give effect to the recommendations, and they desired that the Bill might be revised in consultation with local officers. The Bengal Government accordingly, after consulting the Board of Revenue and local authorities, including the Corporation of Calcutta, submitted a revised Bill in May, 1905. Opportunity was taken to amend the provisions of the Bill so as to provide a legal basis for the Contract Distillery System which was introduced at that time into certain Bengal districts.

"Meanwhile the Government of India had appointed the Indian Excise Committee to inquire and report with regard to various matters in connection with Excise, and they wrote in March, 1906, that it was undesirable that the Bengal Excise Bill should be proceeded with until the Report of the Committee should be received and considered.

"The Indian Excise Committee's Report was submitted to the Government of India in July, 1906; and during the next 12 months the Government of India dealt with their recommendations in a series of Resolutions. In a Resolution of July, 1907, they accepted the opinion of the Indian Excise Committee that the Bengal Bill should not be passed into law as it stood; and they requested the Bengal Government to prepare a revised draft on the general lines of the Bill prepared by the Indian Excise Committee, with certain modifications. The Bengal Bill was criticised as being verbose and containing a number of repetitions which could be avoided and provisions which were unnecessary in the substantive law. It was pointed out that the rule-making provisions were scattered over a great many clauses and sub-clauses; and special defects were pointed out in retention of obsolete provisions, in multiplication of Excise offences and in other omissions. A revised Bill was accordingly prepared and submitted to the Government of India in January of last year; and after discussion of points of detail between the Government of India and the Government of Bengal, the revised Bill was submitted to the Secretary of State in December last. This month the sanction of the Secretary of State to the introduction of the Bill was received.

"Under Your Honour's order the Bill revised by the Select Committee of 1904 has been removed from the list of business, under the rule which permits such action to be taken when no motion has been made with regard to a Bill for two years. I now ask the Council to accept the Bill which has been circulated to Members in substitution for the former Bill, and to permit it to be formally introduced in Council.

"I shall reserve further remarks, Sir, until permission to introduce the Bill has been accorded."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council.

He said:—"I now move, Sir, that the Bill to consolidate and amend the Excise Law in Bengal be read in Council.

"In my preceding remarks I have given to Hon'ble Members the history of the Bill which I have been permitted to introduce. I have now to call attention to the more important changes which it is proposed to make in the law. These are to be gathered from the Statement of Objects and Reasons which is attached to the Bill. But I think that Hon'ble Members would wish that I should briefly indicate them.

"In the first place, the Bill is a consolidating measure which will take the place of the principal Act, passed thirty-one years ago, and of the amending Acts. The labours both of the Select Committee of 1904 and of the Indian Excise Committee of 1905-06 have been utilised; and I hope it will be found that the Bill now before the Council is more complete than the existing Acts and that its arrangement is more logical. The Bill is not very much longer, however, than the existing law. It contains 88 clauses as against 85 sections of the Act of 1878.

"The amendments of the law which are of the most general interest are, in order of clauses,— the provisions for facilitating interprovincial import and export (clauses 10 to 13);

the provisions for introduction of the Contract Distillery System for supply of country spirit (clause 21);

the provisions for permitting imposition of a tree-tax on tari or toddy (clauses 29 to 33);

the provisions for consulting local opinion as regards numbers and sites of liquor-shops and other excise-shops (clauses 34 to 40);

the provisions for giving better control over the flavouring, blending or colouring of liquor [clauses 2 (19), 2 (20), 14 (c) and 51 (c)];

the provisions prohibiting sale of intoxicants to drunken persons or to children under 14 years of age, and which make licensees responsible for preventing drunkenness in shops (clause 54);

the provisions for penalties and for compounding of offences (Chapter IX and clause 68), and the provisions with regard to chemists and druggists who sell medicated spirits (clause 84).

"I shall not take up the time of the Council by referring to all these matters, but I shall notice some of them.

"First, with regard to the introduction of the Contract Distillery System. It is the policy of Government to abolish the outstills in all areas where this may be found to be practicable; and it has been laid down that in existing circumstances the Contract Distillery System is the most suitable system.

"I may explain that the main features of this system are the separation of the rights of manufacture and retail vend, the fixation of a wholesale rate and of maximum retail prices and the retail of liquor at fixed strengths only. None of these conditions were existent in Bengal or could be obtained under the outstill system and the central distillery system. The introduction of the contract system into 18 districts and parts of districts in Bengal has given to Government a more definite control upon the consumption of liquor, and while it has cheapened the cost of liquor for retail vendors, it has enabled Government to enhance the rates of duty. In future the effects of taxation upon the consumption of liquor will be judged with greater precision. It is proposed to extend this system further from next year.

"Next may be noticed the provisions for imposition of a tree-tax on tari, that is, the juice of palmyras, the date-palm and other palms. It will be seen that these provisions are permissive, that is, they do not come into operation until they are specially extended. It was considered by the Indian Excise Committee that the consumption of tari requires more adequate check by improved Excise methods and enhanced taxation than it has hitherto received in Bengal, especially in areas where it is proposed to adopt measures for restricting the consumption of country spirit by enhancing taxation. The Government of India have forwarded to the Local Government draft clauses for insertion in the Bill permitting imposition of a tree-tax, but have left it to the discretion of the Local Government to introduce this system. The system belongs to the Bombay and Madras Provinces. Attempts were made some years ago in certain districts of the Province to introduce the tree-tax system into certain districts of Bengal; but they were not successful, and without an amended law and without better establishments no one, I think, wishes to repeat the experiment. I think that any action taken under these clauses should be cautious and tentative.

"I may next notice the provisions which have been inserted in the Bill requiring the Collector to consult local opinion as regards the number and the location of the liquor-shops and other excise-shops which he proposes to license.

"The Council will observe that this Bill does not reproduce section 84 of the existing Act, which empowers the Local Government with the approval of the Government of India to assign to the Corporation of Calcutta or to any other Municipal body powers as to granting excise licenses. The power given by that section has never been exercised, and it is thought to be sufficient to provide, as in clauses 34 to 41 of the Bill, for ascertaining public opinion and for hearing objections to the issue of licenses.

"It has been repeatedly laid down by the highest authority that local option, in the sense in which that term is generally understood in other countries, is impracticable in India. The Government of India wrote in 1890 that such a system would throw the administration into confusion, and would in some places create an intolerable class tyranny which might have very serious political effects. It is considered that the position is not materially altered since these words were written, and that it is impossible for the Government to lay aside its responsibilities for fixing whether by itself, or through its officers, the numbers and sites of liquor-shops.

"Government has been unable to accept the recommendation that licensing functions should be assigned to Municipal bodies or other elected local bodies. Under existing circumstances the District Officer is the officer most likely to possess the local knowledge required for the satisfactory discharge of the licensing functions, and Government does not accept the view that these officers have any such interest in the growth of the Excise revenue as to disqualify them from performing that duty impartially.

"Government agrees, however, with the Indian Excise Committee, that Municipal Committees should be consulted as valuable exponents of an important section of public opinion to which proper attention must be paid; and it has been directed that steps shall be taken to ensure that local opinion, both in towns and in rural areas, shall be more systematically consulted and the result more formally recorded than has hitherto been the case.

"The Council are aware that a Committee sat in Calcutta last year, on which the Corporation was represented, for the purpose of advising Government with regard to licensing of liquor-shops in Calcutta; and the Commissioners of Divisions assembled in conference have advised that local Committees should consider proposals for the licensing of liquor-shops in all important towns. Our existing rules require the Collector to notify beforehand to Municipal Commissioners the sites selected for liquor shops, and to consider carefully their objections and to consult local opinion as far as possible. But clauses 34 to 40 of the Bill have been inserted by the Bengal Government in the view that the attention of the public and of Government officers is more forcibly attracted by provisions of an Act than by rules and executive orders.

"Before leaving this subject I would add as a personal opinion that it seems to me that it may be expedient to provide in clause 39 of the Bill that should any difference of opinion arise between the Excise Commissioner and the District authorities with regard to licensing, the matter should be referred to the Commisioner of the Division. The Council will remember that Commissioners of Divisions in Bengal were relieved of their functions in connection with Excise when a Commissioner of Excise was appointed about 20 years ago. Though, however, the Commissioners of Divisions no longer exercise any statutory power under the Bengal Excise Act, they are still associated with the Board and Government in the Excise Administration. They are consulted in all important matters connected with Excise and on proposals involving any change of principle or policy. The annual reports and other periodical reports are submitted to the Divisional Commissioner for transmission to the Commissioner of Excise, and the Divisional Commissioners have full power to inspect all Excise-shops and offices, and to notice any defects and to intervene in any matter where intervention appears to be desirable. I should like, therefore, to have the position of the Commissioner of the Division formally recognized in this clause of the Bill, and I think that such a provision would be satisfactory to the public and that it might often save references to the Board and to Government.

"I have only a very few more remarks to make.

"In clause 54 Members will notice provisions taken from recent English statutes which prohibit sales of intoxicants to drunken persons or to children under 14 years of age, and which impose a burden of responsibility on licensees to show that they have taken all reasonable steps to prevent drunkenness in shops or premises. We have such prohibitory clauses in some of our retail licenses. But it has been accepted as desirable that the prohibitions should be contained in the law itself.

"I invite attention to the clauses of the Bill which prohibit bottling of liquor for sale without a license and which are intended to control blending and colouring liquor and to prevent the sale of cheap spirit, sophisticated so as to resemble whisky and brandy, as if it were the genuine article. These provisions have been inserted in order to deal with the excessive manipulation of white spirit which goes on in Calcutta.

"The subject of penalties has been carefully dealt with in Chapter IX of the Bill, and in some cases more severe punishment has been proposed than the present law provides.

"With regard to other changes proposed in the law, I think that it is sufficient for me to refer Members to the Notes on Clauses.

"If the motion which I shall now make be accepted by the Council, I shall move on a future date that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, and Hon'ble Members will then have an opportunity to discuss the principles and the general provisions of the Bill.

"I now move, Sir, that the Bill be read in Council."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"Sir, I crave Your Honour's permission to make a few suggestions on one or two important points in connection with this Bill. It was stated by the Hon'ble Member that section 84 of the Act, which empowers the Local Government, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, to assign to the Corporation of Calcutta or any other Municipality powers as to granting Excise licenses, has never been acted upon. Sir, I do not know why this power has not been exercised. So far as the Corporation of Calcutta is concerned, this matter was never placed before it, and I believe the power can only be exercised with the sanction of the Governor General in Council on the recommendation of the Local Government. I believe, Sir, if Government had given authority, the Corporation would have exercised it with the utmost care and with due regard not only to the interests of Government so far as the revenue is concerned, but also to the interests of the people at large. The Corporation of Calcutta is the most advanced Municipal body under Your Honour's sway, and I am sure if this power is retained, and if the Corporation of Calcutta and other Municipalities are permitted to exercise this function, they will exercise it to the best advantage of the people in their respective jurisdictions. Sir, under the new sections 38 and 39 I find the opinion of the Chairmen of the Municipalities would be considered by the Excise Commissioner. No doubt, the Ward Commissioners would be consulted, but the Excise Commissioner and the Collector will decide on the opinion of the Chairmen of the Municipalities. I believe the Members of this Council are well aware that the Chairmen are members of the respective Municipalities over which they preside, and it is they who guide the deliberations of the Municipalities. I think the collective opinion of the Municipality as given in a Resolution passed in a meeting of the Commissioners should be considered by the Collector and the Excise Commissioner. The opinion which will be submitted by the Chairman of the Municipality and Chairman of the Corporation should not be his own individual opinion, but the opinion of the Commissioners of the Municipality.

"Then, Sir, I find that it has been stated that the Collector, having local knowledge, is in a very good position to decide whether licenses should or should not be granted. I am well aware, Sir, of the intimate acquaintance of the Collector with the requirements of his own district, but, at the same time, I think that if the Government could rely only on the Collector's local knowledge, they would not have inserted these provisions with a view to ascertaining local opinion. Local opinion in these local matters play a very important part, and I therefore submit that if, in any matter local opinion ought to be a guide in granting licenses, it is eminently in the matter of excise licenses. I would therefore venture to make this suggestion at this stage of the Bill that the power which has already been granted under the present Act should not be taken away, and that the local option should be largely used, so as to give the people an effective voice in controlling licenses to liquor-shops."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"In welcoming Your Honour to the first meeting of the Council since assumption of the high office to which Your Honour has been called, it gives me great pleasure to be able to congratulate Your Honour most sincerely that it is also the occasion for the inauguration of a beneficient legislation that has been long and eagerly looked for. It is a measure expected to mark the close of long-drawn struggles between the public and the publican, in which the former should come out triumphant. To put down or at all events to minimise the drink and drug habits and withal to get out of the inevitable evil the maximum of public good in the shape of revenue is in all civilised countries the anxious care of true statesmanship, and if righteous resolves have to give way before the combined influence and affluence of Beer potentates even in premier countries, we congratulate ourselves that such powerful vested interests are utterly unknown in this country. Here, therefore, the long-rooted temperance cause which is so warmly and whole heartedly championed by lofty missionary zeal, ought to triumph signally as I have little doubt it will, specially in a Province in which its University is able publicly to claim that no organised temperance work is needed among its alumni.

"On the first reading of the Excise Bill, I shall not be pessimistic enough to apprehend that that triumph will not be complete because the wording of this measure of progression is cautious. In the good intentions of the Government there has never been any lack of confidence, but distrust has mainly been in the subordinate machinery which in the draft Bill maintains more than its usual preponderance. In reminding this Council on the occasion of the last budget debate of the avowed policy of the Supreme Government to 'minimise temptation to those who do not drink and to discourage excess among those who do,' I ventured to urge that the public would be disappointed if in the result of the investigations of the Excise Commission the following reforms were not achieved :—

(1) An immediate and considerable reduction in the drinking facilities of the city.

(2) An administrative reform under which the Revenue Executive shall share with some other authority the power of deciding the number and location of all future licenses.

(3) Local option receiving much more consideration so that to some extent the people chiefly concerned may have an opportunity of saying how many grog-shops they require and where they may be located.

(4) An insistence that the standard quality of all liquors sold, whether country or foreign, shall be subject to periodical and rigid examination.

(5) A definite legislative measure, that shall not be a skeleton, allowing rules to be framed thereafter in accord with the personal idiosyncrasies of the Revenue authority for the time being, but that shall incorporate as part of the Act all those reforms the need for which has long been admitted, viz., no sales to children or drunken persons, the limit and hours of retail sales, the structural fitness and sanitary character of all shops, the minimum distance of one shop from another, and so on.

"In outlining these reforms I felt obliged to complain that the wait for reforms was too long that intemperance and revenue that prospers by intemperance had been steadily increasing, and that the agonised cry of a long-suffering public was 'how much longer.' The answer has now come in the shape of the 'definite legislative measure' that was then asked for and which has taken the shape of the Bill now before us. It is impossible, however, not to have to say that it is the skeleton that I somewhat apprehended at the time, though I do not start at it as a dreaded Frankiensteen, but cordially welcome it even as a skeleton that will yet gather flesh and blood. Legislation by rules and notification, which has recently been the marked trend, may have the advantages of elasticity. But it has its disadvantages which are also the disadvantages of elasticity, and which in a case like this are bound markedly to preponderate. Clearly defined and well understood lines of policy, as well as working details in the main, have long been the objective of earnest temperance workers, which we miss in this Bill to a certain degree, and I venture to think that much in the long roll of delegation to the Government and the Board of Revenue in sections 79 and 80 of the Bill should find place in the Bill itself. We welcome the semblance of local option provided in the Bill, but its scope has to be considerably enlarged for it to be even partially effective. The existing powers of some authority other than the Revenue authorities, such as the Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation, has been taken away on the ground of their being obsolete. Instead of this being done I venture to think that care should be taken to see that such powers of the Chairman of the Corporation or of such other civic or educational authorities as may be agreed upon in the matter of licensing, ought not to be allowed to become obsolete, but ought to be strengthened, enlarged and exercised for public good. We also welcome the expansion of the principles of protection to children and women both as regards being served and employed in drink shops; but I should like to bring to Your Honour's notice the claim of children of bigger growth, drunken incapables utterly unable to look after themselves. With regard to the age limit in the Bill, I may be permitted to observe that while we do not allow minors under 18 and in some cases below 21, to deal with their property or incur contractual obligations, minors of much lesser age (fourteen) are by this Bill to be allowed facilities for bargaining away their bodies and souls through drugs and drink, as if cigarette habit, rampant, is not bad enough. And if the employment of women is objectionable at the Bar where foreign liquor is sold, how is it any less objectionable in regard to country liquors sporting under the names of Swadeshi Brandy and Swadeshi Whisky—a degradation in nomenclature fit to make all true Swadeshis blush? And under no circumstances, Sir, should an Indian woman be served on the premises, however much she may choose to degrade herself elsewhere.

"While these are some of the observations that strike the casual first reader of the Bill from the point of view of the general public, the publican also may be allowed to enter his protest against evidentiary onus being unduly thrown upon him in semi-criminal cases against accepted principles of equity and good conscience. So far as juridical matters are concerned, the balance must be held evenly, however hard one may be inclined to be against the publican regarding economic and administrative details. And even the Secretary of State and his officers should not be allowed immunity where clear lack of bonâ fides is established; nor can lack of personal bravery on the part of Excise officers be made up for by Statute. Many of the provisions of the Bill are new. Some are decidedly an improvement. Some of those that cannot claim admission under that category have been borrowed from Madras, no longer benighted. Accustomed as Madras may have been to give us points in the matter of drink, Madras Excise rigor cannot in all cases be either necessary or desirable in Bengal, and the poor man's gur should be carefully safeguarded at any cost. I shall not now seek to anticipate the Select Committee about the details which it is unusual to discuss or even fully to indicate at the first reading of a Bill. I shall content myself with expressing the almost redundant hope that the Select Committee that will sit on this Bill will do its duty in a thorough-going spirit. I desire to give the Bill my cordial support even in its present form, and congratulate the Council and Your Honour's Government that we are after all about to embark on a measure fraught with the possibility of so much good worked in the true spirit of the noble sentiments voiced by Your Honour to-day."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal called attention to the provisions of clause 39 of the Bill, and he suggested, as I understood, that the opinion of the Corporation in regard to licensing should be considered as well as the opinion of the Chairman. Clause 39 provides that in cases of differences of opinion between the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta or the Commissioner of Police and the Excise Commissioner, the matter should be referred to higher authority. I understood the Hon'ble gentleman to say that the collective opinion of the Corporation at least should be entitled to weight. It will be observed, Sir, that clause 35 provides that extracts from the list of proposed shops shall be sent to each member of the Ward Committee, but it may be desirable to provide for weight being given to the collective opinion of the Municipal Commissioners in addition to the individual opinion of the Chairman; and I think that I may say that this suggestion will be considered in the Select Committee stage.

"The same speaker referred to my remarks with regard to the local knowledge possessed by the District Officer. I did not at all mean to say that the local knowledge of the District Officer was the only important matter. I hope myself that we shall find that in the future, a local Committee will be constituted in all large towns in which non-officials will be fully represented, who will advise the District Officer in the matter of licensing, and bring all their local knowledge to help him.

"These are the only matters on which I think it necessary to remark at this stage."

The motion was then put and agreed to, and the Secretary accordingly read the title of the Bill.

The Council was then adjourned to a date to be fixed hereafter.

BRITISH POSSESSIONS.

I.

Caution, when approaching British ports.

No. 61 (first publication.)—The following Notice to Mariners (No. 1 of 1909), issued by the British Admiralty, is republished :—

(1) My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, having taken into consideration the fact that circumstances may arise in which it may be necessary, on account of periodical exercises, manœuvres, or otherwise, to forbid all entrance to the Naval Ports at night, this is to give Notice that on approaching the shores of Great Britain, or any port of the British Empire, if search lights are observed to be in constant operation, the Naval Ports should be approached with great caution, as it may be apprehended that obstructions may exist outside, or that the entrances may be altogether closed.

(2) If an entrance to a port is closed, three red vertical lights by night, or three red balls by day, will be exhibited in some conspicuous position, in or near to its approach, and as far as possible notice of this fact will be given by look-out vessels in the offing.

In this case vessels must either proceed to the position marked "Examination Anchorage" on the Admiralty charts and anchor there, or keep the sea.

II.

EXAMINATION SERVICE.

(1) In the event of relations becoming strained between this country and any Naval Power, it may become necessary to take special measures to examine vessels desiring to enter the ports or localities in the United Kingdom and His Majesty's Possessions abroad, mentioned at the end of this Notice.

(2) In such case, vessels carrying the distinguishing flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (4) will be charged with the duty of examining ships which desire to enter the ports and of allotting positions in which they shall anchor.

(3) As the institution of the Examination Service at any port will never be publicly advertised, special care should be taken in approaching the ports, by day or night, at such times of strained relations, to keep a sharp look-out for any vessel carrying the above-mentiond flags or lights, and to be ready to "bring to" at once when hailed by her or warned by the firing of a gun.

(4) By day the distinguishing flags of the Examination Steamer will be a special flag (white and red horizontal surrounded by a blue border) and a blue ensign.

Also, three red vertical balls if the port is closed.

By night the steamer will carry :—

(a) Three red vertical lights if the port is closed.
(b) Three white vertical lights if the port is open.

The above lights will be carried in addition to the ordinary navigation lights, and will show an unbroken light around the horizon.

(5) Masters are warned that, before attempting to enter any of these ports when the Examination Service is in force, they must in their own interests strictly obey all instructions as to entry given to them by the Examination Steamer. In the absence of any instructions from the Examination Steamer they must proceed to the position marked "Examination Anchorage" on the Admiralty Charts and anchor there.

(6) In case of fog, Masters of vessels are enjoined to use the utmost care, and the Examination Anchorage itself should be approached with caution.

(7) The pilots attached to the ports will be acquainted with the regulations to be followed.

REORGANIZATION OF THE NURSING ARRANGEMENTS AT THE PRESIDENCY GENERAL HOSPITAL AND THE MEDICAL COLLEGE AND CONNECTED HOSPITALS, CALCUTTA.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Calcutta, the 5th February 1909.

RESOLUTION—No 266Med.

READ—

Government Resolution No. 1672Medl, dated the 3rd September 1908, appointing a Special Committee to consider and report on the question of the reorganization of the nursing arrangements at the Presidency General Hospital and the Medical College and allied hospitals in Calcutta.

The Report of the Committee dated the 22nd December 1908.

THE rapid expansion and improvement during the past five or six years of the two principal medical institutions in Calcutta, viz., the Medical College Hospital with its connected institutions and the Presidency General Hospital, have necessitated reconsideration of the nursing arrangements, with a view to bringing them up to the requirements of the present day. The urgency of increasing the number of nurses has been felt for some years past, and although considerable progress has been made in this direction, much still remains to be done. Other important questions also, such as the class of nurses to be employed, their training, and the nature of the control to be exercised over them by the administrative medical officers concerned, have lately come into prominence. Hitherto the recruitment and supply of nurses for the hospitals, and the management and control exercised over them, have remained almost exclusively in the hands of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution; and the Lieutenant-Governor desires to express his appreciation of the excellent service rendered by the institution in this respect. Practical experience, however, has shown that the existing arrangements are not altogether satisfactory in the altered condition of the hospitals.

2. In order to increase the efficiency of the nursing staff, it was suggested that the Principal of the Medical College and the Surgeon-Superintendent of the Presidency General Hospital should each have full control over the nursing staff in the hospital under his charge. It was also proposed that a small Executive Committee, composed of members of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution, should be associated with the Medical Officer in charge of each hospital. These Committees would have no concern with the nurses in respect of their professional duties, but would confine themselves to matters affecting the welfare of the nurses outside the hospitals, such as their quarters, messing arrangements, conduct and discipline. Each Committee would form an advisory or consultative body for the purpose of assisting the Medical Officer in charge of the hospital and the Lady Superintendent of the nurses in respect of such matters affecting the nurses as might suitably be dealt with in consultation with them. The General Committee of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution would thus be relieved of the immediate control and management of the nurses, their functions being restricted more or less to the collection of subscriptions from the public, the receiving of the grants-in-aid from Government, and the allotment of funds between the hospitals concerned.

3. Definite schemes, with estimates of cost, were drawn up by the Principal of the Medical College and the Surgeon Superintendent of the Presidency General Hospital for the institutions under their respective charge. The proposals contained in these schemes involved an outlay very largely in excess of what is now spent on the nursing arrangements at these institutions; and as such expenditure was likely to increase considerably in the future, it seemed necessary to appeal to the public for further aid if these schemes were to be given effect to, either entirely or in part.

4. With a view to obtaining the best advice before deciding upon the measures that should be adopted, the late Lieutenant-Governor Sir Andrew Fraser appointed a Special Committee consisting of the following gentlemen to consider and report on the whole question :—

Hon'ble Mr. C. E. A. W. Oldham, I.C.S.,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
Financial and Municipal Departments ... President.

Colonel R. Macrae, I.M.S.,
Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal ...

Hon'ble Sir C. G. H. Allen, KT.,
Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta ...

Lieut.-Col. C. P. Lukis, I.M.S.,
Principal, Medical College, Calcutta ... ...

„ H. W. Pilgrim, I.M.S.,
Surgeon-Superintendent, Presidency General Hospital

Hon'ble Maharaja Sir Rameswar Singh Bahadur, K.C.I.E., of Darbhanga ... ...

„ Mr. W. Brown,
President, Bengal Chamber of Commerce, and President of the Committee of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution ... ... } Members.

Maharaja Sir Prodyot Kumar Tagore, KT. ... ...

Raja Benay Krishna Deb ... ...

Nawab A. F. M. Abdur Rahman ... ...

Lockhart A. Smith, Esq., of Messrs. Williamson, Magor and Company

Rai Koylash Chandra Bose Bahadur, C.I.E. ... ...

A. Chaudhuri, Esq., M.A., Barrister-at-Law ... ...

Babu Bhupendra Nath Bose ... ...

5. The Committee's report has now been received. They have carefully considered the questions referred to them in their various aspects, and have submitted the following definite recommendations :—

(1) That the administrative heads of the Presidency General and Medical College Hospitals, respectively, should have a voice in the original selection of probationary nurses employed in the institutions under their charge, and that the final confirmation of the nurses should rest with them.

(2) That complete control should be given to the administrative head of each hospital in respect of the nurses while on duty.

(3) That lay Superintendents should be substituted for the Clewer Sisters at the Medical College and connected hospitals, or, if this be impracticable, that five Clewer Sisters be provided instead of only two as at present. In the event of the supervision of the Clewer Sisters being withdrawn, the original recruitment of nurses should rest with the Lady Superintendent.

(4) That a small Committee composed of members of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution should be associated with the administrative head of each hospital for the purpose of dealing with all matters affecting the welfare, conduct, discipline, leave, punishment, dismissal, etc., of the nurses when not on duty within the hospitals. It should be left to the General Committee of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution to appoint these Sub-Committees, which should be composed of both ladies and gentlemen. The decision of the administrative head, after consultation with the Sub-Committee, should be final.

(5) That the Sister Superior should not exercise any power of control over the nursing arrangements in the Presidency General Hospital.

(6) That an additional Sister should be provided for the Presidency General Hospital. This could be arranged if the Sisters were withdrawn from the Medical College Hospital.

(7) That, in respect of the Medical College Hospital, the pay of the Nursing Superintendent should be Rs. 250—300, and that of the Assistant Superintendents Rs. 200—225, per mensem.

(8) That, in the first instance, a few trained nurses should be imported from England on the same terms as those obtaining at Lahore, viz, that they should be bound by agreement to serve for five years, and be allowed no money for their return passage if that condition were broken.

(9) That in other respects the proposals of the Principal of the Medical College and the Surgeon-Superintendent, Presidency General Hospital, in respect of the staff of nurses required for the institutions under their charge, and the rates of pay to be given, should be accepted.

(10) That in order to provide funds for meeting the cost of the increased staff of nurses at the hospitals, the following measures should be adopted :—

(a) The rate for patients admitted to the Woodburn Ward should be increased to Rs. 10 a day, exclusive of fans, the additional fees thus obtained being credited to the funds of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution.

(b) The Calcutta Corporation should be moved to increase considerably their contribution towards the maintenance of the hospitals, or to exempt the hospitals from the payment of rates, the relief so obtained being utilised partly or wholly in augmenting the funds of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution.

(c) The Commissioners of the Cossipore-Chitpur and Maniktola Municipalities should also be moved to contribute, in view of the fact that a large number of the inmates of the hospitals come from these Municipalities.

(d) A vigorous appeal should be made to the general public for more subscriptions. The appeal should recite the facts as disclosed from the figures laid before the Committee, and should be published in all the leading papers and be widely circulated.

(e) A Sub-Committee should be appointed by the General Committee of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution to make the above appeal and to canvass among the Indian community.

(f) An Indian lady should, if possible, be associated with the Secretary to the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution for the purpose of canvassing among Indian families.

(11) That a whole-time Secretary to the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution should be appointed, who might suitably be a lady.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor generally approves the recommendations of the Committee, and the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals will be requested to submit proposals for carrying them into effect. The only question which will be held in abeyance for the present is the proposed substitution of lay Superintendents for the Clewer Sisters at the Medical College and connected hospitals. The sisterhood must be consulted in the matter. Although it may be undesirable that the nursing arrangements at the Medical College Hospital should continue to be supervised by members of a religious order, in view of the fact that the great majority of the patients are Indians, the warmest thanks are due to the sisters for the whole-hearted services rendered by them. The proposal will also, as the Committee observe, depend upon the necessary funds being available.

7. It should be clearly understood, however, that reforms such as those proposed, which involve largely increased expenditure, cannot be undertaken until the money required has been satisfactorily provided for. The average income of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution during the past three years has been about Rs. 1,20,000, whereas the annual expenditure, when full effect shall have been given to the two schemes put forward by the Principal of the Medical College and the Surgeon-Superintendent of the Presidency General Hospital will be about Rs. 1,79,000. A sum of Rs. 59,000, which will be an annually recurring charge, has therefore to be provided. Government already contributes largely towards the expenses of the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution, the annual grant-in-aid now given amounting to Rs. 50,000. Having regard to the fact that it is in the interests of the general public, both European and Indian, that the hospitals exist, it is only reasonable to expect that the public should contribute more largely towards the support of the nursing arrangements, which constitute a most important factor in their successful working. Hitherto the subscriptions received by the Calcutta Hospital Nurses' Institution from the Indian communities have been most inadequate, as the following statement for the three years 1905 to 1907 discloses :—

	1905.			1906.			1907.
Subscriptions received from—	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.
Europeans ...	37,000	3	7	38,299	1	9	34,728	7	7
Hindus ...	906	6	0	896	8	0	787	0	0
Muhammadans ...	214	8	0	132	0	0	175	8	0
Parsees ...	100	0	0	90	0	0	70	0	0

8. The figures show that of the total income received by the Institution from subscriptions from the public, only 3 per cent. is subscribed by Indians, while 97 per cent is received from Europeans. There is no reason why the Indian communities should not subscribe largely towards the cost of the nursing arrangements at the Medical College and connected hospitals, as Indians comprise more than two-thirds of the in-door patients. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that these facts have only to be made widely known for the leading members of the several Indian communities to take measures that will remove this reproach. Sir Edward Baker agrees with the Committee that the first and most essential action to be taken is to make a properly organized and strenuous appeal to the public for further pecuniary assistance ; and he trusts that this appeal, when made, will be heartily responded to. He also agrees that the Corporation of Calcutta should be invited to contribute more generously, and the Municipalities of Cossipore-Chitpur and Maniktola to contribute their quota, towards the support of the hospitals.

9. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to record his thanks to the Committee for their report and for the manner in which they have dealt with the questions referred to them.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. A. W. OLDHAM,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

FINAL FORECAST OF THE SUGARCANE CROP OF BENGAL, 1908-09.

THE following note is published for general information.

F. W. DUKE,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 5th February 1909.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

FINAL FORECAST OF THE SUGARCANE CROP OF BENGAL, 1908-09.

[On an average of the five years ending 1906-07, the area under sugarcane in the territory to which this forecast relates has represented some 18·8 per cent. of the total area under this crop in British India].

Character of the season.—In South-West Bengal, weather conditions were unfavourable in the early part of the season and a full normal area could not be sown. Some damage was done to the crop by heavy rain in July and August, and by drought since October last. In Orissa and Chota Nagpur, the weather conditions were favourable except in Palamau. In Bihar the crop is most important; the rainfall was timely here in the planting season, and though the monsoon was defective, it was generally favourable for the crop, but the drought since the second week of October has affected the outturn seriously, especially in North Bihar. On the whole the season was unfavourable for the crop.

Area planted.—The area under sugarcane this year is returned as 375,100 acres, i.e., 61,100 acres less than last year and 55,100 acres short of the normal. The decrease in cultivation this year is due to deficient rain at the time of planting.

Outturn.—Appendix I of the report shows that two districts only, viz., Balasore and Ranchi, estimate a normal crop. In Singhbhum a 94 per cent. crop is expected. Four districts, viz., Shahabad, Cuttack, Puri and Hazaribagh, report crops between 80 and 83 per cent. Eight districts report from 70 to 79 per cent. crops, five districts from 60 to 69 per cent. crops, and seven districts from 50 to 59 per cent. crops. The estimates for the remaining six districts are poor, viz., Bhagalpur (49 per cent.), Murshidabad (48 per cent.), Purnea (44 per cent.), Saran (40 per cent.), Darbhanga (34 per cent.) and Hooghly (33 per cent.). According to the district returns now received, the outturn of the crop for the Province works out to 62 per cent. of a normal crop against 78 per cent. in the preliminary forecast. Taking 22 cwts as the normal outturn of cane gur per acre, the gross outturn of it in the Province, amounts to 5,116,400 cwts. against 8,156,900 cwts. estimated last year.

Other sources of gur.—The total quantity of gur likely to be produced from the juice of the date palm is estimated at 1,331,446 cwts, and that of the palmyra palm at 25,108 cwts. The total quantity of gur in the Province from all sources is 6,472,954 cwts.

GENERAL SUMMARY.—Light rain fell in all districts except in Howrah, Jessore, Champaran, Darbhanga, Purnea, Darjeeling and Cooch-Behar. The recent rain has been beneficial to the standing rabi crops, and prospects have improved. More rain is, however, urgently wanted in North Bihar, where the condition of the rabi crops is bad owing to want of sufficient moisture in the soil. Sugarcane-pressing is going on in Bihar, Orissa and Chota Nagpur. Planting of the crop has commenced in some districts of Bihar. Preparation of lands for the next season's crops and harvesting of early oil-seeds and pulses continues. Some damage has been done by frost to rahar in Saran and Darbhanga and to tobacco in Muzaffarpur. There is distress amongst the poorer classes in parts of North Bihar owing to the scarcity. The price of common rice has risen in Shahabad, Champaran, Bhagalpur, the Sonthal Parganas and Singhbhum and has fallen in Bankura, Jessore, Gaya, Saran, Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, Darjeeling, Sambalpur and Manbhum. Cattle-disease is reported from Birbhum, Midnapore, Nadia, Shahabad, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Purnea, Puri, Sambalpur and Chota Nagpur (Singhbhum excepted). Fodder is insufficient in parts of Purnea and the Sonthal Parganas. The water supply is getting scarce in parts of Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, Purnea and the Sonthal Parganas. The number of persons on test-works in Darbhanga and Bhagalpur was 16,832, and gratuitous relief was given to 3,860 persons in Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, Purnea and Palamau, and 677 persons in Balasore and Puri. The number of persons on famine relief-works in Darbhanga was 24,471.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

BRITISH POSSESSIONS.

I.

Caution, when approaching British ports.

No. 61 (second publication.) —The following Notice to Mariners (No. 1 of 1909), issued by the British Admiralty, is republished :—

(1) My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, having taken into consideration the fact that circumstances may arise in which it may be necessary, on account of periodical exercises, manœuvres, or otherwise, to forbid all entrance to the Naval Ports at night, this is to give Notice that on approaching the shores of Great Britain, or any port of the British Empire, if search lights are observed to be in constant operation, the Naval Ports should be approached with great caution, as it may be apprehended that obstructions may exist outside, or that the entrances may be altogether closed.

(2) If an entrance to a port is closed, three red vertical lights by night, or three red balls by day, will be exhibited in some conspicuous position, in or near to its approach, and as far as possible notice of this fact will be given by look-out vessels in the offing.

In this case vessels must either proceed to the position marked "Examination Anchorage" on the Admiralty charts and anchor there, or keep the sea.

II.

EXAMINATION SERVICE.

(1) In the event of relations becoming strained between this country and any Naval Power, it may become necessary to take special measures to examine vessels desiring to enter the ports or localities in the United Kingdom and His Majesty's Possessions abroad, mentioned at the end of this Notice.

(2) In such case, vessels carrying the distinguishing flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (4) will be charged with the duty of examining ships which desire to enter the ports and of allotting positions in which they shall anchor.

(3) As the institution of the Examination Service at any port will never be publicly advertised, special care should be taken in approaching the ports, by day or night, at such times of strained relations, to keep a sharp look-out for any vessel carrying the above-mentiond flags or lights, and to be ready to "bring to" at once when hailed by her or warned by the firing of a gun.

(4) By day the distinguishing flags of the Examination Steamer will be a special flag (white and red horizontal surrounded by a blue border) and a blue ensign.

Also, three red vertical balls if the port is closed.

By night the steamer will carry :—

(a) Three red vertical lights if the port is closed.
(b) Three white vertical lights if the port is open.

The above lights will be carried in addition to the ordinary navigation lights, and will show an unbroken light around the horizon.

(5) Masters are warned that, before attempting to enter any of these ports when the Examination Service is in force, they must in their own interests strictly obey all instructions as to entry given to them by the Examination Steamer. In the absence of any instructions from the Examination Steamer they must proceed to the position marked "Examination Anchorage" on the Admiralty Charts and anchor there.

(6) In case of fog, Masters of vessels are enjoined to use the utmost care, and the Examination Anchorage itself should be approached with caution.

(7) The pilots attached to the ports will be acquainted with the regulations to be followed.

FINAL FORECAST OF THE WINTER RICE CROP OF BENGAL, 1903-09.

THE following note is published for general information.

F. W. DUKE,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 13th February 1909.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

THIRD AND FINAL FORECAST OF THE WINTER RICE CROP OF BENGAL, 1908-09.

[On an average of five years ending 1906-07, the area under winter rice in the territory to which the forecast relates has represented some 28·2 per cent. of the total area under winter rice in British India.]

Explanatory.—This is the final of the three forecasts to be issued of the winter rice crop under recent orders of the Government of India.

Character of the season.—As reported in the second forecast, the season was unfavourable throughout Bihar. Want of sufficient rain during the monsoon season prevented the full normal area being sown and also stunted the growth of the crops. Short rainfall again in the month of September and drought since October, did much damage, especially in North Bihar. In Lower Bengal, Orissa and Chota Nagpur, although the crop was damaged by heavy rain in July and August and by insect pests in some districts, the prospects continued favourable till September; but the cessation of rain early in October affected the outturn in many districts. Except in Nadia and in parts of Palamau, where crops partially failed, a fair outturn has been obtained in these tracts.

Area cultivated.—The total area cultivated with the crop is returned as 17,916,200 acres, against 19,836,300 acres last year. The normal area under the crop is 20,831,800 acres. The decrease in the current year's area is due to the want of rainfall in Bihar at the sowing season.

Outturn.—In the districts of the Presidency Division, except Khulna, the estimates made in the second forecast were somewhat below the crop actually harvested, and these districts have now reported higher outturns than those given in the second forecast. In the Bhagalpur and Orissa Divisions and also in Khulna, Gaya, Dharbhanga, Hazaribagh and Singhbhum, a lower outturn has been obtained and in the remaining districts, the figures shown in the second forecast have been reproduced. These changes in the district estimates have, however, not altered the Provincial outturn which remains the same as shown in the second forecast, viz., 72 per cent. of the normal. From Appendix I, which summarises the district returns, it will be seen that Sambalpur and Manbhum each estimate 108 per cent. crops the 24-Parganas a 106 per cent. crop, and Bankura a 100 per cent. crop. In Singhbhum and Ranchi, the crop is estimated at 95 and 97 per cent. of the normal respectively. In six districts, the crop is between 80 and 85 per cent. and in the same number of districts between 70 and 79 per cent. In two districts, the crop is between 60 and 65 per cent.; and in four districts between 50 and 58 per cent. of the normal. A poor outturn is reported from the remaining nine districts, viz., Nadia (47 per cent.), Gaya (42 per cent.), Monghyr (37 per cent.), Patna (33 per cent.), Muzaffarpur and Bhagalpur (31 per cent. each), Saran (29 per cent.), Purnea (28 per cent.) and Darbhanga (10 per cent.)

Taking 72 per cent. as the Provincial outturn, the gross yield of the winter rice (cleaned) crop for the Province, is calculated at 142,159,600 cwts. against 115,860,200 cwts. the outturn estimated last year.

W. R. GOURLAY,

Offg. Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

The increase in the area in Column 7 against Crosshead "total" is due to the fact that some lands cultivated last year with jute have been brought under the cultivation of winter rice owing to the falling off in the demand for jute and to some lands that were left fallow having been brought under cultivation in the Basirhat Subdivision.

The general condition and prospects of the crop appeared to be very good at first, but some damage was done by insect-pests and by deficient rain in the latter part of October. The paddy fields especially on high lands suffered to some extent. But on the whole, I consider that the preliminary estimates were too low and I have now raised the estimates. The date of harvesting was normal everywhere, but early in Basirhat and late in Barrackpore.

The situation, however, improved a little owing to seasonable showers in June and a larger area in the Sadar Subdivision was sown with paddy later on in the season. The outturn was however badly affected owing to want of rain in October. The outturn shown against the Sadar Subdivision is higher than what was shown in the second forecast. This is due to a mistake in the method of calculation followed in working out the average outturn in the second forecast. The date of harvesting was normal.

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR JANUARY 1909.

Character of the Rainfall.—In the latter part of the month, light showers fell in all districts excepting Hooghly, Howrah, the 24-Parganas and Angul. In Chota Nagpur, the rainfall was in excess, and in Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura, Midnapore, Nadia, Gaya, and the Sonthal Parganas, it was about the normal. It was below the average in all the Bihar districts except the Sonthal Parganas. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of Agricultural operations—Harvesting of winter rice was completed during the month. Sugarcane pressing was in progress in Bihar, Orissa and Chota Nagpur. Preparation of lands for planting of sugarcane and for sowing of bhadoi crops was facilitated by the recent rain. Harvesting of early oilseeds and pulses continued during the month.

III. State of standing Crops.—Rabi crops suffered for want of moisture, especially in North Bihar. The rain received in the last week of the month did much good and improved prospects. More rain is wanted in North Bihar for the standing rabi crops.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn of harvests.—The winter rice crop has been harvested. The cessation of rain early in October did widespread damage to the crop when attaining maturity. In North Bihar, a very poor outturn has been obtained. The outturn of the crop for the whole Province has been estimated at 72 per cent. of the normal against 53 per cent. estimated last year. The rabi and oilseed crops are not good in North Bihar. The recent rain, however, though scanty in Bihar, where it is most wanted, has done much good to the crops and has improved prospects. The sugarcane crop is estimated at 62 per cent of the normal. The low outturn is due to drought since October.

V. Damage to crops.—No serious damage to crops has been reported. The rabi crops in unirrigated tracts of Bihar suffered from drought.

VI. Condition of Agricultural stock.—The condition of the Agricultural stock continued fair. Cases of cattle-disease were reported from parts of Burdwan, Midnapore, Nadia, Monghyr, Purnea, Angul, Puri, Sambalpur, and from the Chota Nagpur, Patna and Tirhoot Divisions.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—Insufficiency of the fodder supply was reported from Monghyr, Purnea and the Sonthal Parganas. Sources of water-supply have been drying up in many parts of North Bihar.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—Prices of food-grains still ruled high. The price of common rice has fallen in all districts on account of the recent harvest. It is cheaper than in the corresponding period of last year. The price is varying from 7 seers in Darjeeling to 15 seers in Angul.

IX. Condition of labouring of the classes and agricultural population.—The prospects in North Bihar continued unfavourable. Distress prevailed in many parts owing to the scarcity and want of labour. Gratuitous and test relief continued in Darbhanga, in parts of which district famine has been declared. Test works were started in Bhagalpur. Arrangements are being made to open relief in Purnea. Prospects are favourable in Bengal, Orissa and Chota Nagpur, except in parts of Palamau, where the winter rice crops failed owing to drought.

BRITISH POSSESSIONS.

I.

Caution, when approaching British ports.

No. 61 (third publication.)—The following Notice to Mariners (No. 1 of 1909), issued by the British Admiralty, is republished :—

(1) My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, having taken into consideration the fact that circumstances may arise in which it may be necessary, on account of periodical exercises, manœuvres, or otherwise, to forbid all entrance to the Naval Ports at night, this is to give Notice that on approaching the shores of Great Britain, or any port of the British Empire, if search lights are observed to be in constant operation, the Naval Ports should be approached with great caution, as it may be apprehended that obstructions may exist outside, or that the entrances may be altogether closed.

(2) If an entrance to a port is closed, three red vertical lights by night, or three red balls by day, will be exhibited in some conspicuous position, in or near to its approach, and as far as possible notice of this fact will be given by look-out vessels in the offing.

In this case vessels must either proceed to the position marked "Examination Anchorage" on the Admiralty charts and anchor there, or keep the sea.

II.

EXAMINATION SERVICE.

(1) In the event of relations becoming strained between this country and any Naval Power, it may become necessary to take special measures to examine vessels desiring to enter the ports or localities in the United Kingdom and His Majesty's Possessions abroad, mentioned at the end of this Notice.

(2) In such case, vessels carrying the distinguishing flags or lights mentioned in paragraph (4) will be charged with the duty of examining ships which desire to enter the ports and of allotting positions in which they shall anchor.

(3) As the institution of the Examination Service at any port will never be publicly advertised, special care should be taken in approaching the ports, by day or night, at such times of strained relations, to keep a sharp look-out for any vessel carrying the abovementiond flags or lights, and to be ready to "bring to" at once when hailed by her or warned by the firing of a gun.

(4) By day the distinguishing flags of the Examination Steamer will be a special flag (white and red horizontal surrounded by a blue border) and a blue ensign.

Also, three red vertical balls if the port is closed.

By night the steamer will carry :—

(a) Three red vertical lights if the port is closed.
(b) Three white vertical lights if the port is open.

The above lights will be carried in addition to the ordinary navigation lights, and will show an unbroken light around the horizon.

(5) Masters are warned that, before attempting to enter any of these ports when the Examination Service is in force, they must in their own interests strictly obey all instructions as to entry given to them by the Examination Steamer. In the absence of any instructions from the Examination Steamer they must proceed to the position marked "Examination Anchorage" on the Admiralty Charts and anchor there.

(6) In case of fog, Masters of vessels are enjoined to use the utmost care, and the Examination Anchorage itself should be approached with caution.

(7) The pilots attached to the ports will be acquainted with the regulations to be followed.

THE following report is published for general information.

F. W. DUKE,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA,
The 20th February 1909.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE STEAM TRAWLER GOLDEN CROWN FOR THE QUARTER ENDING DECEMBER 31ST, 1908.

DURING the quarter under review the Golden Crown made seven voyages to the Bay of Bengal, viz.:—

(1) From October 1st to 5th.
(2) „ „ 11th to 14th.
(3) „ „ 22nd to 29th.
(4) From November 11th to 18th.
(5) „ „ 21st to 1st December.
(6) „ December 4th to 13th.
(7) From December 17th to 22nd.

She also left for sea on December 30th, but as practically no fish were caught until the midnight on the 31st, the result of this voyage has been kept for inclusion in the report on the first quarter for 1909. It may be mentioned here that between the third and fourth voyages (October 29th to November 11th) the Golden Crown went into dry dock for a few days for sundry repairs.

DETAILS OF JOURNEYS.

The items mentioned above include the whole of the journey from Prinsep's Ghat to the sea and back, so that at least one complete day must be allowed for the outward journey and a similar amount for the return voyage. For an average voyage, however, it would be well not to allow less than three whole days for the actual steaming to and from the fishing grounds, so that, although the trawler was actually away from Calcutta altogether 52 days during the quarter, the actual number of days engaged in trawling is somewhat less than this. In the case of a single vessel engaged in commercial trawling, it is immaterial whether, in summarising results and comparing receipts with expenditure, one takes the number of days actually spent in trawling or the number of days the vessel is away from port as a basis for calculation of the amount of fish caught per day, since obviously expenses are accumulating even when the vessel is not actually fishing. In the case, however, of a small fleet of trawlers with a special vessel or vessels (carrier or cutter) engaged in conveying stores outwards and fish homeward, the ratio of trawling days to journey days would naturally be higher than in the case of a single vessel; in order to facilitate comparison with such a fleet the trawling day has therefore been taken as the unit of time in the case of the Golden Crown. Where later in the report the amount of fish caught per day is referred to, it must be understood that the 'day' means a day actually engaged in fishing, exclusive of the time taken in travelling to and from the fishing grounds. The point is not an unimportant one, since, other things being equal, the longer the vessel is away from port the higher the average catch per day should be. In the case of a port with a long and difficult approach and heavy pilotage dues, it naturally would not pay to have one or two vessels making very short and frequent trips.

During the month of October the Golden Crown was engaged in fishing for 14 days, during November 10 days, and during December 11 days, making 35 days in all.

On the first trip (October 1st to 5th) trawling was tried off the Orissa coast between Konarak (Black Pagoda) and Puri in from 10 to 18 fathoms of water, the nature of the bottom varying from soft mud to sand and shells. From the 11th to 14th October she trawled between False Point and Konarak in depth from 11 to 17 fathoms on muddy, sandy and shelly ground. From the 22nd to 29th October she again trawled off the Orissa coast between False Point and Konarak in from 9 to 15 fathoms on similar ground except that coral sand and stones were encountered.

On the fourth voyage (November 11th to 18th), after a preliminary unsuccessful trial off the Eastern Sunderbans, trawling was tried in the vicinity of South-Patches light vessel off the Arakan coast in depths from 8 to 13 fathoms on a muddy and sandy bottom. Again from November 21st to December 1st, after a trial near the intermediate light-vessel, fishing was carried on off Konarak in from 14 to 21 fathoms. From December 4th to 13th, after a trial trip 26 miles from Pilot's Ridge light-vessel, the ground off the Orissa coast between Konarak and Puri was again visited. From the 18th to the 21st December fishing was tried near the Mutlah light-vessel.

It may be advisable to explain here that a steam-trawler engaged in fishing for commercial purposes trawls during the whole of the 24 hours, and this is precisely what occurs on the Golden Crown. All modern trawlers are fitted up with two full sets of gear in readiness for immediate use, one on the port and one on the starboard side, so that, as soon as one net is hauled, the other may, if required, be shot. The Golden Crown, however, is unable to use her starboard gear and, as a consequence, frequent annoying, though unavoidable, delays occur. In surveying unknown grounds it is impossible at times to avoid serious damage to the nets, and all this damage must be repaired before the net can again be used. Hence, every time the net is torn on the Golden Crown she has to remain idle, while all hands turn to and effect the necessary repairs. This may at times cause serious delay and must be taken into account in estimating the weight of fish caught per day's trawling. The amount of delay, which would almost invariably be nil on a properly equipped vessel varies on the Golden Crown from nil to 25 per cent. of the time actually spent on the fishing grounds.

In addition, the impossibility of using the starboard gear on board the Golden Crown makes her handling at all times a more hazardous matter than it would otherwise be, and in comparing the Golden Crown catches with those of a moderately well-equipped vessel, this fact must not be omitted from consideration.

It does not appear that any absolutely fresh trawling ground was opened up during the quarter, and although the accumulation of evidence respecting the condition of each fishing ground in the Bay during each particular month of the year is undoubtedly of some service, still one or more voyages per quarter should be devoted in future to opening up absolutely new grounds, even though it will be necessary for this purpose to provide the vessel with additional, better and more varied gear than she at present possesses.

Weight and quantity of fish caught.

The returns of weight per voyage are:—

	Weight. Lbs.
First voyage	8,660
Second „	14,239
Third „	12,344
Fourth „	4,634
Fifth „	15,968
Sixth „	18,195
Seventh „	8,574
Total ...	82,614

Thus the weight of fish caught during 35 days' trawling amounted to an average of 2,360 lbs. per day.

This excludes (except in one instance where their weight was included) turtles and all sawfish and sharks. If commercial trawling were attempted in the Bay, doubtless some use would be found for the livers and fins of these gigantic Elasmobranches. So far then as the actual quantity of fish caught per diem in concerned, the results are not unfavourable. Similar quantities in European waters, such as the North Sea, would render trawling a commercial success. In making this comparison it is, of course, necessary to make certain assumptions which may not turn out to be justifiable, and one of the most important of these is that the fish is of approximately equal edible value and commands a ready sale at similar prices to sea fish in the markets of Northern Europe.

Some of these considerations need further investigation, and fortunately sufficiently reliable data exist for the comparison of the kinds of fish landed during each separate voyage, in some instances even for separate hauls of the trawl. This latter information, while doubtless of value for future work, whether of a scientific or commercial nature, is not analysed in the present report, and attention is solely directed to the quantities of each kind of fish landed per voyage. The question of sale and the many factors connected with it cannot be considered here. In England when strange sea-fish were first put on the market the public demand for them was practically nil. Many instances could be given of this; it will perhaps suffice to mention the Hake. This fish was formerly considered to be worthless, but the popular demand for it is now considerable, and it fetches a good price.

Details of the "Golden Crown" Catches.

The detailed account of the Golden Crown's catches is given in the table below. The names of the fish are those given by the European crew of the trawler who, in some cases, have adopted local names (not always correctly), and in other cases have utilized the common names of European fish on account of some assumed external resemblance, or have even been driven to invent entirely new names for fish for which no local names were readily forthcoming and which had no resemblance to common European marine species.

The local names, or names already in use in India, adopted for the purposes of classification on the trawler, are Begti, Bummaloh, Topsi and Pomfret. The Pomfret, as is well known, is a stromateus and two species are frequently caught in the trawler, namely cinereus and niger. The former is the more abundant and in greater demand on account of its more attractive appearance. The Bummaloh (Harpodon Nehereus) is a scopeloid and is well known as the "Bombay duck." The name Topsi is given to several species of Polynemus, including both indicus and plebius, although strictly speaking it should only be applied to paradiseus. The Begti of the Golden Crown is not the Begti (lates calcarifer) of Bengal, but comprises two or more forms, notably the Datneh (Chrysophyrs datnia) and a Pericoid form (Pristipoma maculatum).

Of the names applied to fish in the Bay, which have been adopted on account of the presumed similarity to European species, the chief are whiting, herring, gurnards, halibut, conger, prawns, skate, soles, lobster and rock salmon. Of these the whiting, gurnard and rock salmon are structurally very dissimilar to those of European waters, and the names are based on a misconception of the nature of the Indian species. They are, however, sufficiently useful to be retained as market terms, though they should, strictly speaking, be always quoted in inverted commas. It would be difficult to replace them by any terms which would be understood by the public.

The Gadidae (cod, whiting, haddock, etc.) are not represented, and the so-called whiting of the Golden Crown include quite a number of very different forms, mostly species of sciena, scienoids and more rarely umbrina. The gurnards are siluroids of the genus arius, very largely arius dussumeri. As the siluroids are unknown in English markets it is not surprising that these gurnards are absolutely unlike the English gurnards. The name is evidently given on account of the hard bony plates protecting the head which are found in both forms. It is strange that neither the whiting nor the gurnard finds a ready sale in the New Market, although both these fish, especially the former, are good eating. Possibly the rather numerous bones and, in the case of whiting, the small size are prejudicial to a ready sale.

The rock salmon is entirely distinct from the true salmon. No member of the salmon family has been discovered in Bengal waters, and the name

"rock salmon" has been bestowed on Otolithus Maculatus on account of the spotted surface of the latter bearing resemblance to a salmon. This form and Otolithus Ruber are really scienoids.

The Halibut (Psettodes erumei) and the soles (species of Cynoglossus synaptura and plaguria), although differing from the British species similarly named, are nevertheless true flat fish (Plueronectidæ). The Conger eel is muræsox cinereus, the skates (large) mostly species of Trygon or sting rays or (small) mylobatis and ætobatus. The herring are Clupeoids of the genera Pellona and Chalæssus. The prawns are principally Percidæ and Palæmonidæ, and the lobster is a Panulerus or spiny lobster, and in all these cases the names are sufficiently correct for commercial purposes. A few species of fish are grouped under the somewhat unintelligible headings of red flats, small flats, mixed flats and mixed. The red flats are Pagrus spinifer, a most excellent edible fish; the small flats vary considerably usually they consist almost entirely of various species of House mackerel (Caranx), but sometimes deepens punctata and ephippus orbis predominate, and then the term mixed flats is sometimes employed, although there is no precision in the use of the terms. Under the heading of mixed fish we find very diverse forms; saurena tumbil is almost invariably present and mackerel (Scomber Microlepedotes) is also common.

Details for this haul not to hand.

It would be well to refrain from too minute a comparison of the different fishery grounds at the present juncture. No stress can be laid on the discrepancy between the result observed off the Arakan coast and the Orissa coast; all, one can say; is that with the gear at present on board the Golden Crown the latter coast is more profitable. With nets capable of being used on rocky ground (i.e., with a bobbin foot rope) precisely the reverse statement might conceivably be made. The weight for the fourth trip is probably considerably under-estimated, even so the total weight for 35 days' fishing is 82,614 lbs., or 2,360 lbs. per day. That is to say, inspite of the drawbacks under which the Golden Crown has had to work, she has caught during the quarter well over a ton of fish per day's fishing. As explained above, with a trawler properly equipped, an increase of at least 25 per cent. could be expected.

It may not be amiss to remark here that the Golden Crown is a small and ancient type of trawler, and that her gear is by no means adequate for the work she has to perform, viz., the exploitation of the Bay. It is difficult to compare her catching power with a modern vessel with improved gear, but some appreciable percentage should be added to her catch if she be compared with a vessel of that type.

The Handling and Marketing of Fish.

When the catch is got aboard it is sorted, washed, weighed and then placed below in the ice-hold. When the vessel reaches Calcutta the fish is landed, some sent to the Linde Cold Storage, some to the Sir Stuart Hogg Market and some to Chingrighatta. The prices charged for the fish at the Golden Crown stall in the New Market are appended for reference. It would be an easy matter to calculate from these figures the value of each separate landing from the Golden Crown, but as these prices are absolutely fixed it would serve no useful purpose to do so. Assuming the average catch per day's fishing of the Golden Crown to be not less than 2,400 lbs. then at the rate of 2d. per lb., the result of each day's fishing would be £20.

The figures given above of the weight caught per voyage need to be collected for a longer period, if only for the purpose of determining seasonal variations on different grounds.

Conclusion.

An appendix is attached with the names of the fish so far identified from the Golden Crown's catches. The list is provisional and incomplete and, in some cases, notably in the sciennoids, requires revision. So far as it goes, one learns that over 150 species of fish have been identified, and of these at least six are new to science. For the identification of the Elasmobranchs, I am much indebted to Dr. Annandale, Superintendent of the Indian Museum.

FOURTH REPORT ON THE COTTON CROPS OF BENGAL, FEBRUARY 1908-09.

THE following note is published for general information.

F. W. DUKE,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 20th February 1909.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

FOURTH REPORT ON THE COTTON CROPS OF BENGAL, FEBRUARY 1908-09.

[On an average of the five years ending 1906-07, the area under cotton crop in the territory to which this forecast relates has represented some 0·38 per cent. of the total area under cotton crops in India.]

Explanatory.—This is the final of the four reports on the cotton crops of Bengal to be issued during the season 1908-09. It deals with revised estimates of the area and outturn of the crop after the publication of the third report in December.

Character of the season.— For the early crop the season was generally favourable. In Sambalpur and the Sonthal Parganas, however, the most important of the early cotton growing districts, the crop suffered to some extent—in the former district owing to excessive rain in August and in the latter district to drought in the beginning of the season. In the districts of Chota Nagpur, where the crop is also important, the season was favourable. The season was less favourable for the late cotton crop which was injuriously affected owing to the cessation of rain early in October. Excepting Saran, the most important of the late cotton districts, and also Singhbhum, where the condition of the crops is reported to be fair, the outturn in other districts is likely to be poor.

Area sown.—The area sown with the early variety is estimated at 34,114 acres as against 35,341 acres estimated last year and that sown with the late variety is reported to be 32,869 acres, an estimate which is 2,055 acres less than that given last year.

The outturn of early cotton amounts to 4,805 bales and that of late cotton to 9,352 bales. The corresponding figures of last year were 3,654 and 10,768 bales respectively. Adding to this year's estimates 5 per cent. for the cotton crop grown in the Native States for which no statistics have been received, the outturn of the early and late crops works out to 5,045 and 9,820 bales respectively. The total outturn of the cotton crops for the whole Province is estimated at 14,865 bales against 15,143 bales last year.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

≏, dew; ≡ fog.

No 982L.R.—The 25th February 1909.—The following draft of rules which the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to make in exercise of the power conferred by clause (xx) of section 264 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, is published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

The draft will be taken into consideration on the 15th April, 1909, and any objection or suggestion which may be received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

DRAFT.

In exercise of the power conferred by clause (xx) of section 264 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to prescribe the following rules as to the manner of service of notices, summonses and other processes (other than warrants against the person of judgment-debtors) issued under that Act.

1. The word "process," as used in these rules, means any notice, summons or other process issued under the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, other than a warrant against the person of a judgment-debtor.

2. Every process shall be served personally on the person to whom it is addressed.

3. Notwithstanding anything contained in rule 2,—

(a) if the person to whom any process is addressed has an agent empowered to accept service, or placed in charge of the management of his Zamindari business in connection with the landed property to which the suit or proceeding, in which the process is issued, relates, service of such process on such agent shall be sufficient; and

(b) if the person to whom any process is addressed cannot be found, and has no such agent as is referred to in clause (a), service of such process may be made on any adult male member of the family of such person who may be residing with him.

Explanation.—A servant is not a member of the family within the meaning of clause (b)

4. Service of a process shall be made by delivering or tendering a copy thereof, signed by the officer under whose authority the process is issued, or by some officer appointed by him in this behalf.

5. (1) When the serving officer delivers or tenders a copy of a process to any person referred to in rule 2 or rule 3, he—

(a) shall require the signature of such person to an acknowledgment of service endorsed on the original process, or, if such person be illiterate, shall take his thumb-impression instead of a signature; and

(b) shall require the signature of persons identifying the person on whom service was made, and of persons witnessing the delivery or tender of the process, to the said acknowledgment, or, if any of them be illiterate, shall take his thumb-impression instead of a signature.

6. Whenever a process has been served under rule 2 or rule 3, the serving officer—

(a) shall endorse or annex, or cause to be endorsed or annexed, on or to the original process, a return stating the time when and the manner in which the process was served and the names and addresses of the persons (if any) who identified the person served and witnessed the delivery or tender of the process, and

(b) shall require the signature of such identifiers and witnesses to the said return, or, if any such identifier or witness be illiterate, shall take his thumb-impression instead of a signature.

7. In either of the following cases, namely:—

(a) if any person on whom a process is served refuses to sign the acknowledgment, or

(b) if the serving officer, after using all due and reasonable diligence, cannot find the person to whom a process is addressed, and there is no such agent as is referred to in rule 3 to accept service thereof on behalf of the addressee, and no adult male member of his family on whom service can be made, the serving officer shall affix a copy of the process on the outer door or some other conspicuous part of the house in which the person to whom the process is addressed ordinarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain, or of his Zamindari Cutcherry or Bhandar or farm-house (if any), and shall then return the original to the Court or officer by whom it was issued, with a report, endorsed thereon or annexed thereto, stating that he has so affixed the copy, the circumstances under which he did so, and the name and address of the person (if any) by whom the house, Cutcherry or Bhandar or farm-house was identified and in whose presence the copy was affixed

8. When a process is returned under rule 7, the Court or officer by whom it was issued shall, if the return under that rule has not been verified by the affidavit of the serving officer, and may, if it has been so verified, examine the serving officer on oath, or cause him to be so examined by another Court, touching his proceedings, and may make such further inquiry in the matter as the Court or officer thinks fit; and shall either declare that the process has been duly served or order such service as it or he thinks fit.

9. (1) Where the Court or officer by whom a process was issued for service on any person is satisfied that there is reason to believe that such person is keeping out of the way for the purpose of avoiding service, or that for any other reason the process cannot be served in the ordinary way, the Court or officer shall order the process to be served by affixing a copy thereof in some conspicuous place in the Court or in the office of such officer, as the case may be, and also upon some conspicuous part of the house (if any) in which the said person is known to have last resided or carried on business or personally worked for gain, or in such other manner as the Court thinks fit.

(2) Service ordered under sub-rule (1) shall be as effectual as if it had been made on the said person personally.

(3) Whenever service is ordered under sub-rule (1), the Court or officer shall fix such time for the appearance of the said person as the case may require.

10. (1) A process may be sent, by the Court or officer by whom it is issued, either by one of its or his officers or by post, to any other Court or officer having jurisdiction under the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, in the place of residence of the person on whom the process is to be served.

(2) The Court or officer to whom a process is so sent shall, upon receipt thereof, proceed as if it had been issued by such Court or officer, and shall then return the process to the Court or officer by whom it was issued, together with the record (if any) made under this sub-rule.

11. Notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing rules, if the person to whom any process is addressed resides at a place in which the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, is not in force, the process shall be deemed to be fully served by properly addressing, pre-paying and posting by registered post a letter containing the process, and to have been served at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.
